VICTIM OF ABDUCTOR

Officers Seeking Slayer Of Young Hamburg Mother

HAMBURG, Ark. (Special) — Area officers concentrated their efforts late Friday in a search for the kidnaper-slayer of Mrs. Maudine Deggs, 25-year-old Arkansas mother of three, whose partially-nude body was found around 10 a.m. on a little-used backwoods logging road.

The body, nude from the waist up and badly-beaten about the head, was found by two members of a search party of nearly 200 officers from Arkansas and Louisiana, little more than 24 hours after she was abducted from her home near Hamburg.

Ashley County Sheriff Guy Morrison said an intensive investigation is continuing to find a Negro man who is believed to Aid Backers To Ask Rider Be Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces in House and Senate are ready to insist on removing what they regard as crippling Senate amendments from the foreign aid bill.

The reapportionment rider that held up the $3.3-billion authorization bill for six weeks in the Senate now is regarded as no longer a major obstacle to final passage.

NOT BINDING

The compromise finally voted Thursday by the senate is not binding on anyone. It merely states that it is the sense of Congress that federal courts could allow a delay of up to six months for legislatures to reapportion on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.

When Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, first attached his reapportionment rider to the foreign aid bill it carried a mandatory one-year delay in carrying out the Supreme Court's decision that both branches of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

More than 60 House liberals signed a pledge to vote against the foreign aid bill, even though they strongly supported it, if it came back to them with the Dirksen rider.

These congressmen were scattered to the four winds Friday, campaigning, but it is regarded as unlikely that they will oppose the nonbinding substitute rider.

What will be at issue are several Senate amendments which the administration doesn't want to accept.

Rail Workers Cancel Plans For Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Mediation Board spokesman Friday said all threatened strike action by 150,000 railroad shop workers has been cancelled and annulled.

The announcement was made by Francis A. O'Neill, member of the board.

A scheduled daybreak walkout on Tuesday had been postponed indefinitely after negotiators announced a tentative settlement of the job security dispute.

Agreement was reached on four major issues at that time and negotiators had expressed hope that final agreement would be reached shortly on the remaining issue, that of pay guarantees for shopmen who lose their jobs or suffer pay cuts because of operational changes.

A presidential board had recommended a five-year guarantee of full pay for men moved to lower-paying jobs and a five-year guarantee of 60 per cent of full pay for men put out of a job.

The threatened strike had been called by six AFL-CIO unions against most of the nation's railroads except the Pennsylvania and Long Island Railroads, the Southern Railway System and the Florida East Coast Railway.

Settlements had already been in the works with the Pennsylvania, Long Island and Southern. The Florida East Coast, involved in a long strike over other issues, has been operating with non-union personnel for more than a year.

Strike Stops Car Turnout At Giant GM

Money Problems Settled; Question Is 'Human Dignity'

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers hit General Motors, the world's largest auto maker, with a nationwide strike which, if prolonged, could cause severe repercussions to the nation's booming economy, the company said.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, said the strike was not called basically over money matters but rather because the company fails to recognize the "human dignity" of its workers.

WALK OFF LINES

At GM plants around the nation, workers walked off assembly lines where the new 1965 models had just begun to roll. An estimated 87,616 units had been scheduled this week.

The strike came after negotiations failed in around-the-clock discussions to reach an agreement on a new contract covering more than 350,000 GM workers.

Not all of the UAW-represented workers were expected to walk out, however, since the union intends to keep in production several parts plants which furnish needed products to other automakers.

In announcing the strike, Reuther said he was doing so with a "great sense of sadness and disappointment."

The walkout was not called over economic issues, for both sides had reached virtual agreement on a package already accepted by the union from GM's major competitors — Ford and Chrysler.

These included higher pension benefits, improved medical and hospitalization plans, increased wages, longer vacations and additional holidays.

Asked to give specifics on the union's non-economic demands, Reuther said he did not want to go into all of the details.

One of the problems, however, was what he termed "intolerable overtime at certain plants."

DEFENSE RULING

Officials Can't Take Contractor Favors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department Friday barred armed forces representatives from accepting expense account lunches, gifts, or entertainment from military contractors.

The action was accompanied by the issuance of a new directive covering civilian employees of the Pentagon. It was designed to prohibit the acceptance by a Defense Department employee of any "favor, gratuity or entertainment" which would appear on a contractor representative's expense account.

Norman S. Paul, assistant defense secretary for manpower, told a news conference that he expected to see a prompt reduction in the number of armed forces personnel lunching with contractors in Washington restaurants.

Under the new regulations, a government employee must pay for his own lunch or else assure himself that his host is not including the lunch on his expense account.

The tightened regulation would also prohibit visiting the "hospitality suites" commonly

House Holds Appalachian Aid Success

Senators Stamp Solid Approval On Johnson Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate passage Friday left to the House the fate of President Johnson's controversial $1 billion dollar program to inject economic health into poverty stricken areas of the 11 state Appalachian mountain region.

A 45-13 roll call vote put a solid stamp of approval on the last of Johnson's major antipoverty projects remaining before an adjournment-bound Congress.

KEY IS ABSENTEES

The outcome in the House hinges on whether the Democratic leaders can bring back enough absentees to outvote the project's opponents, most of whom are Republicans. A vote on the question planned three weeks ago was postponed because so many members were away campaigning for re-election and backers weren't confident of enough support.

The Senate had only seven members over a quorum of 51 for Friday's vote, in which 32 Democrats and 13 Republicans joined to pass the measure.

Opposed were eight Republicans and five Democrats. The Democrats included Sens. Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, one of the states included in the program.

In addition to a part of Virginia, the area affected includes all of West Virginia and portions of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

The heart of the program is a five-year, $840 million highway construction program designed to ease the area's isolation by rugged mountains. Plans call for a network of 2,500 miles of highways and 500 miles of access roads in the 165,000 square-mile area to open it to industrialization and recreation.

The states would put up $360 million in matching highway funds and participate in designation programs to be carried out by an Appalachian Regional Development Commission created under the bill.

Natchez Bombs Hit Two Homes; One Is Mayor's

NATCHEZ (Special) — Bombs exploded in the yards of Mayor John J. Nasser and a Natchez Negro man within minutes of each other Friday night. No one was injured in either blast.

Less than an hour later police arrested three unidentified Negroes in connection with the bombings. It was not clear if the two dynamite explosions were related.

The blast in the mayor's yard went off at 9:27 p.m. followed by another in the yard of Willie Washington, a Negro concrete contractor, at 9:30 p.m. several blocks away.

Damage was confined to glass breakage of windows in the two neighborhoods, plus injury to flower beds in the mayor's yard.

It was the second time within recent weeks that a bomb has been tossed in the vicinity of the Negro's home, and about a week ago Mayor Nasser offered a $5000 reward for information leading to the apprehension of persons connected with bombings at two Jitney Jungle stores in Natchez, operated by the mayor's three sons and son-in-law. The reward also was made applicable to other vandalism occurring in the City of Natchez.

Up until last night, no one had been arrested in connection with any of the bombings.

Jordan's Auto Company located on Highway 61, North, was also the scene of a bombing the same morning the Jitney Jungle stores were bombed. Late Friday it was not known if the mayor or members of his family were at home at the time of the bombing.

Peace Force Will Stay On Upset Island

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council Friday extended the life of the U.N. peacekeeping force on Cyprus for another three months. But Secretary-General U Thant promptly warned that the force would be withdrawn if U.N. members fail to provide enough money for it.

VOTE UNANIMOUS

Acting one day before the expiration of the force's present three-months mandate, the council approved unanimously a resolution extending the 6,160-man force until Dec. 26.

Speaking immediately after the vote, Thant expressed dissatisfaction over the method of financing the force through voluntary contributions as specified by the council.

"I shall have no alternative but to inform the council whenever the financial situation makes it necessary to withdraw the force before the end of the three-month period," Thant said.

U.S. delegate Charles W. Yost announced that the United States was prepared to contribute up to $2.3 million for the third three-month term. He pleaded with other countries to make contributions. He noted that the United States had already paid $4.3 million of the estimated $12.5 million for the first six months.

British delegate Sir Patrick Dean made a similar appeal, and announced his country would contribute $1 million for the third three-month period. It has pledged $2.4 million previously.

Only four council members — the United States, Britain, Norway and Morocco — have made or pledged voluntary contributions for the force. Out of 112 U.N. member countries only 22, about 20 per cent of the membership, have pledged or made payments.

Mild Weather Seen For Area

Residents of the Twin Cities and surrounding area can expect continued mild temperatures today according to the weatherman.

Friday's temperatures provided good football weather throughout the area. Skies will remain partly cloudy today and no rainfall is predicted for Monroe and vicinity.

The weatherman's official forecast issued Friday night calls for a high today of 80-85 with a low tonight of 60-64. Friday's high was a warm 86 with the overnight low recorded at 51.

No rain was reported by FAA at Selman Field Friday.

RUMORS OF REVOLT

Khanh Builds Up Troops In Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh rushed paratroopers and marines to Saigon Friday as rumors spread of another impending army revolt or assassination plot.

He also released two of his bitterest political foes from arrest as the best military men to cope with the potentially disastrous rebellion of mountain tribesmen in the central highlands.

Air Force Commander Nguyen Cao Ky said Friday one of Viet Nam's most powerful generals committed suicide Thursday night in Dalat rather than face possible punishment for abuse of power under the Diem regime. He identified him as Gen. Do Cao Tri and said he took an overdose of sleeping pills.

OFFICERS UNHAPPY

Rumors of an impending revolt were laid to disgruntled officers opposed to Khanh's plan to return the government to civilian rule within 32 days. They were worried lest they lose their jobs as result of civilian demands for a purge of everyone who was loyal to President Ngo Dinh Diem before he was overthrown and killed.

Revolt "is in the air but you cannot put your finger on it," an American colonel told UPI. The officers who fear a complete return to civilian government were even more opposed to any "neutralist" deal with the Viet Cong. Khanh gave them one reason for discontent when he quietly freed the two allegedly neutralist generals to help him deal with the rebellious mountain tribesmen.

DENIES CHANGES

Soviet's U.N. Stand Same, Izvestia Says

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia denied Friday night that Premier Khrushchev told a group of visiting Indian journalists the Soviet Union would neither pay back U.N. assessments nor withdraw from the world organization. It did not mention Khrushchev by name.

The government newspaper charged that The Associated Press, in writing about Soviet debts to the United Nations, "refers to words allegedly heard somewhere that the Soviet Union does not have any intention of withdrawing from the United Nations."

"In reality, nobody said these words, and all this invention with this version about the new position of the U.S.S.R. is a pure invention which does not have any grounds at all."

"The position of the Soviet Union on this question is firm and unchangeable."

This statement by Izvestia left open the question of whether the Soviet Union might withdraw from the United Nations as authoritative sources at New York headquarters have said it threatened. The Associated Press distributed the remarks attributed to Khrushchev by the visiting Indian journalists and made no speculation about a possible change in the Soviet Union's position. The words Izvestia disputes were: "We are not going to withdraw. We have no intention of withdrawing from the United Nations."

"We only say there are some people who are trying to frighten us on this expenditure issue, because we are not going to pay for troops sent to other countries in the name of the United Nations."

The fire in four days has burned 82,000 acres, much of it in valuable watershed, in addition to an estimated 100 structures — most of them east and north of Santa Barbara.

The improved weather conditions Friday afternoon encouraged fire officials. But they remained extremely cautious about forecasting control and regarded the threat on the eastern front still as particularly dangerous because of tinder-dry brush, some 20 and 30 feet high.

In 1932 a fire, starting at Matilija, blackened 243,000 acres — the largest forest blaze in California's recorded history.

A U. S. Forest Service official called the breakout of the Santa Barbara blaze into Ventura County "a very serious situation," and firefighters and equipment were rushed to the area.

Bill Waltrip, head of an eastern front fire camp, said the spearhead was "burning on the loose...with nothing to immediately stop it" in dense underbrush on rugged mountain terrain.

A definite attempt was expected late Friday to make a stand and possibly backfire near Matilija.

"But it all depends on the winds," one fire official said. Seventy-eight homes were officially listed as destroyed in the fiery mass created by two separate man-caused blazes. Counting damaged houses, the total number of structures burned passed 100.

Air Tankers Help Control Major Front

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — A dramatic shift in winds and a concentrated air tanker attack late Friday stalled a devastating four-mile wall of fire that was threatening two inland communities nestled in tinder-dry forests.

The drastically improved weather conditions also brought relief for Summerland and Carpinteria, two threatened towns near the Pacific Ocean.

STILL SERIOUS

But the U.S. Forest Service emphasized the situation is "still serious," and the massive fire still was far from controlled.

The concentrated air attack with bombers dumping hundreds of thousands of gallons of chemical fire depressants on the major front as it moved easterly coincided with a sudden, unexpected easterly wind that stymied the flames.

The huge four-day old Santa Barbara-Montecito blaze was approximately 20 miles long and 10 miles wide Friday when a flaming spearhead burst to within six miles of Matilija, a community of 70 homes. The fire also was only 12 miles from the Ojai Valley resort area where 16,000 persons reside.

An estimated 2,000 firemen on the ground, spread thin at some spots along the fire line, concentrated on the eastern front most of the day although any sudden shift in winds could endanger suburbs of this oceanfront city.

Summerland and Carpinteria, a few miles to the south, benefited most from highly favorable winds and moderate temperatures.

Potential trouble spots remained on the west and north-west front. "The weather will tell the story," a fire official said.

Is a widow with five children drawing Social Security as her only income eligible for medical assistance under the Kerr Mills act in case of emergency?

Kerr-Mills aid is available only to persons over 65 years of age. Even if this person is over 65, which does not seem likely, the question of Kerr-Mills eligibility is determined by the state Welfare Department.

How many times did President Lyndon Johnson vote against anti-lynch laws and civil rights bills while a member of Congress?

Johnson cast votes in opposition to anti-lynch legislation in 1937, 1940 and 1950. On six occasions from 1942 through 1950 he voted his opposition to anti-lynch laws. This is generally considered a civil rights issue in Congress.

From 1949 through 1957, Johnson voted 11 times against proposals for making cloture votes easier, then voted in favor of the present cloture formula of two-thirds of senators present and voting. On some of these votes Johnson opposed particular cloture proposals such as majority vote stopping debate rather than the basic idea of cloture.

Four Johnson votes from 1946 to 1950 were against the so-called "Powell Amendments" that would have imposed non-discrimination rules on federal programs such as school lunches. These, however, are not good test votes since many congressional conservatives voted for the amendments in an effort to kill the basic legislation.

In 1950, Johnson voted twice for proposals that would permit at least limited segregation in the armed forces.

The first votes on an actual civil rights bill, however, came in 1957. He then voted against several parliamentary maneuvers to speed up consideration and to broaden the scope of the bill, but then voted for it on final passage. He acted similarly on the 1960 civil rights bill.

How many family service or family assistance agencies and day care centers are there in Monroe?

A check of the entire parish showed four agencies dealing in services of this type — the Ouachita Parish Welfare Department, the Monroe Area Day Care Center, the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army. Also the Baptist Children's Home might be considered a type of family assistance establishment.

The welfare department provides family services, plus child welfare help. The guidance center is primarily concerned with cases involving mental or emotional health. The Red Cross provides assistance for families of military personnel and veterans, plus helping out in emergencies and one-family fires. The Salvation Army aids deserving families by providing food and other necessities.

As far as day care centers were concerned, the guidance center reported that they offered half-day classes for mentally retarded pre-school-age children. There are a number of commercial establishments for this purpose, but a spokesman for the welfare department said that only three of these are licensed day care centers. The welfare department is the official licensing agency for such establishments and requires that they meet certain minimum standards. The only centers in Ouachita Parish that have qualified for such a license, according to the welfare department, are the Altrusa Day Care Center in West Monroe, and the Romper Room and Tiny Tots Nursery, both in Monroe.

Where can a person learn sculpturing in Monroe after regular working hours?

There are no courses of this type being taught in the Twin Cities as far as we can ascertain. The Monroe recreation department offers several classes in different types of creative arts and crafts, but none in sculpture. An official of the Monroe Art Center said that she knew of no private classes in this art around the Twin Cities, and a member of the art department at Northeast State College said that they had no evening classes in sculpture.

Is there a market for black walnut timber in Louisiana?

There is definitely a good market for this type of timber in the state, according to a spokesman from the Louisiana Forestry Commission, but the main problem would be obtaining enough lumber of a sufficiently high quality. Regular saw timber is in demand, as well as material for gun stocks, furniture and paneling. For the latter items, premium prices are paid only for high quality timber.

The official added that it would probably be difficult to find enough high-grade trees to supply a large amount of this timber. He added that the Louisiana Forestry Commission has a free service for landowners to help determine whether or not there is a market for their timber. Any additional information can be obtained by contacting the nearest Louisiana Forestry Commission district office.

ON NUCLEAR WEAPONS

GOP Solons Ask NATO Clarification

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House Republican leadership asked President Johnson Friday to confirm or deny that he has given NATO's supreme commander authority to use tactical nuclear weapons in a dire emergency.

The Republicans said the issue between Johnson and GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater over nuclear control is one on which "clear proof is available."

"The national security of this country is too important a matter to leave such an issue unresolved in the minds of our people, our NATO allies, and the Communist enemy," the statement declared.

It quoted Goldwater as having suggested NATO's supreme commander an American, should "have direct command over a NATO nuclear force."

It added Johnson has said the responsibility for control of U.S. nuclear weapons rests solely with the President, "who exercises the control of their use in all foreseeable circumstances."

The statement, issued by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate GOP leader, and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, minority leader in the House, said reports from two reputable magazines "are in direct conflict with statements of President Johnson and practically every major spokesman of his Administration on the subject."

"If Time magazine and U.S. News & World Report are right," the Republicans contended, "then Senator Goldwater has been the object of one of the biggest political misrepresentations in the history of presidential campaigns."

The statement quoted Time magazine as saying there is nothing in the law to prevent the President from delegating authority to a NATO commander to use nuclear weapons under certain circumstances.

"Goldwater insists that the President should delegate such authority," Time reported. "The fact is that he already does, as did Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy before him."

U.S. News & World Report said that "even now, the understanding is widespread among NATO allies that U.S. commanders in Europe already have orders, issued in advance, to use nuclear weapons in certain emergencies with no further instructions from Washington."

The Republicans called on Johnson to say whether or not the U.S. supreme commander "has or has not been given authority to use tactical nuclear weapons in time of dire emergency, and also whether or not this authority was given under the two previous presidents."

VICTIMS HOME SAFE

100,000 Frenchmen Hunt School Children Stealers

POITIERS, France (AP) — France mobilized 100,000 police Friday to hunt for the kidnapers of three small children who have been happily reunited with their families and are being gently queried for clues.

Interior Minister Roger Frey, ordering roadblocks thrown up, called kidnapping a "leprosy" that must be stamped out in France.

Investigators were especially on the lookout for a known prostitute of Poitiers whom they would like to question. There was no official word on whether any or all of the $210,000 demand as ransom had been paid. It was certain that no levy had been made on merchants in Poitiers as ransom notes had requested. It was also certain that the parents of the children, of modest means, had made no payment.

Patrick Guillon, 5, his sister Christine, 6, and Joel Biet, 5, were found standing along a deserted road just after dawn by a maid on her way to work. This was at the village of Carbon-Blanc, 15 miles from Bordeaux and 120 miles south of their home village in southwestern France.

"What are you doing here?" Miss Anne-Marie Laleve, 23, asked the children.

Miss Laleve went on to her job, but a short time later thought about the kidnapping, looked at newspaper photos of the children, and ran back to get them.

The children were taken to Bordeaux by gendarmes, and were questioned there. They were unharmed and said they had been well treated. But they were scratching flea bites that were a souvenir of their 85-hour stay with the kidnapers.

In Carbon-Blanc before police arrived, they said, they were let out of a blue Simca car by a young man wearing a black cap and a chestnut-colored suit, whom they called "Aunt Nicole."

Christine recounted: "We were in a big house, a big house. We had beds and at night 'Aunt Nicole' undressed us and put us to bed. We had all we needed to eat. The last time they gave us mashed potatoes and pears."

"Last night we got in the car and we drove a long time. We laid on the back seat of the car. They put a blanket over our faces and I tried sometimes to lift it to see where we were. Each time the woman pulled it back on my face and scolded me, but she never spanked me. 'Finally we arrived here and the woman made us get out and the man said, 'We'll be back.' Then the car left very fast, in that direction.' She pointed south.

The children and their parents were reunited in Bordeaux, brought back to Poitiers and sent of their village of Marnay for the night.

Police have felt almost from the beginning that the kidnapers were not professionals. They were not to find suspects among the relatively limited number of persons who might have heard of three small children, whose parents are not wealthy, in a small village.

Mauricette Guillon, aunt of two of the children, was questioned at length soon after the disappearance and then released when she could give no information. She recently was held in prison for a month during an investigation of a theft and released without any charge being made.

It was reported, however, that the prostitute being sought for questioning was an acquaintance of Mauricette. There was speculation that the man and woman might have headed for the Spanish border after releasing the children on the country road a short distance from a main north-south highway.

Red Bloc Pours Vast Expenses To New Nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported Friday that the Communists have funneled $1 billion in aid to the new nations of Africa and have assigned 5,000 technical advisors in an effort to woo the emerging continent.

"In addition, from 6,000 to 8,000 African students are in Communist countries; Communist diplomatic, consular and trade missions in Africa total nearly 150, and more than 300 hours of Communist broadcasts are beamed exclusively to Africa," he said. Despite these efforts, Rusk said, the Reds have not yet scored any major gains.

Nevertheless, he said, the Red "threat to African freedom remains a problem to those who love freedom" and the Communists "still have ample opportunities for fishing in troubled waters in those areas."

Rusk addressed a luncheon meeting of the American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa.

The Secretary said that his report did not include undercover assistance being given subversive elements throughout the area.

Rusk cited three reasons for what he called the Communist lack of success so far in the new African nations:

—"Strong economic, cultural and other links that exist between African and Western nations."

—"The open division between the Chinese and the Russians."

—"The attachment of Africans to their independence and their revulsion to any attempts to limit that freedom."

The United States, for its part has provided "about $1.5 billion in assistance in the period 1960-63" to the new African countries, Rusk said. There are about 2,000 Peace Corps volunteers from the United States there, and many Africans are now studying in the United States.

Verdi's 'Othello' To Be Presented At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Verdi's "Othello" will be the first Shreveport Civic Opera Association production of the 1964-65 season, according to Robert Brown, Shreveport Civic Opera Association president.

Starring tenor Dimitar Usunov of Bulgaria in the title role and his wife, soprano Katja Georgiev as Desdemona, the opera will be presented at the Municipal Auditorium in Shreveport on Tuesday night, November 17.

The production, which follows closely Shakespeare's tragic play, "Othello, The Moor of Venice," will commemorate the 400th anniversary of the English bard's birth. The setting is on the Venetian-held island of Cyprus in the late 15th century when Turkey threatened the supremacy of the Venetian state in the Mediterranean.

Usunov is rapidly becoming one of the most well-known interpreters of Othello and first came to international attention when he sang the role at the Vienna State Opera in the summer of 1963. Since then he has done Othello at the Metropolitan Opera, Covent Garden, La Scala, the Lyric Opera of Chicago and in San Antonio. He has also sung with the Grand Opera in Paris and with the Bolshoi Opera in Moscow.

Other major roles will be depicted by baritone Cesare Bardelli as Iago and lyric tenor Stanley Kolb as Cassio, Brown said. Walter Herbert, general manager of the Houston Grand Opera Association and a prominent figure in Shreveport opera history, will conduct an orchestra of Shreveport musicians. Sets will be designed by Peter Wolfe of Dallas, Texas.

Mixing Farm Clubs

A fair-minded jurist (and there are still a good many of them left in this country, despite doubts raised by the Supreme Court) expects laws will be applied equally in all sections of the country and without partiality.

President Johnson, a disciple of the late socialist President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and enmeshed in the political philosophy of the Kennedy clan, which embodies the theory of reward and punishment, apparently takes no such solid view. He seems to hold the position that laws are fluid, hitting some roughly with their waves and by-passing others.

With his approval, the recently-enacted so-called civil rights law was drawn in such a way that it contemplated exemption for the Northern and Eastern states, with teeth especially bared for the South. This was deemed necessary in order to get the votes of enough Senators to enact the measure. The law made it so that the provisions would apply only to those areas "with a pattern of discrimination." The assumption was that the South would be guilty of having such a pattern but that no such claim would be made against the states of the North and East, although New York City and many other big cities in the area of contemplated exemption were using and are still trying to use school districting to limit integration as much as possible.

One of the vicious and vindictive provisions of the so-called civil rights law is that the President has authority to cut off funds provided for the 4-H clubs by the department of agriculture's extension service.

For many years, the extension service, probably by far the most valuable and least political of the federal government's farm assistance services, has assisted in maintaining 4-H clubs for farm boys and girls. There have been clubs for white boys, white girls, Negro boys and Negro girls, administered under the direction of white and Negro agricultural and home demonstration agents.

Now, under the law, the President could order mixing of the white and Negro clubs. But, to use a common expression, President Johnson says in essence, "It ain't necessarily so."

Two Washington correspondents stated that Johnson had privately promised Senator James Eastland, D. Miss., chairman of the powerful Senate judiciary committee that he will not use the civil rights law to bar funds to segregated 4-H clubs in the South until these farm-youth groups have been given "a reasonable time to take in Negroes voluntarily."

Of course the expiration of a "reasonable time" will occur whenever the President wants to tighten the screws. As long as we stand around with our hats in our hands and bow and scrape in deference to him he will hold the law in suspension, like the sword of Democles.

All those who aspire to total power for the federal government like to enact laws that they can use or not. They want to be able to apply them as a means of punishment, to force compliance with their wishes, or to suspend as a reward for falling into line.

Johnson has demonstrated repeatedly that that is his aim. That is one among many reasons that in the election to be held in November we should provide for a change in administration.

Vacations Show Us Up

Now that the annual summer vacation season has drawn to a close, most of the workers in this country have found out that they are not indispensable in the places at which they work.

In this world there are a good many disconcerting situations but few that will jar the ego much more than the following: You return from a two-week vacation and on the first day back you say to a fellow employee: "How did you all get along while I was gone?" thinking maybe he will say everybody had a terribly hard time making things go during your absence. Instead, he looks at you, a little surprised or startled and says: "Have you been on a vacation?" How long were you gone? He isn't kidding either.

Regarding the awakening a vacation can bring, one person said: "I've always said a vacation was good for everyone. I used to get cocky and think, 'Well, this place just couldn't get along without me.' Then along comes vacation time and I take off on a vacation trip, all the time worrying about what's going on back on the job, and only half enjoying the vacation for fear of the chaos I was sure to find when I returned. Then, bingo, I returned, only to find the business ran right on just the same. It's good for a person."

What are vacations for? Aside from the sheer enjoyment of them, which is helped by the knowledge we now have that the business won't go to pot while we are gone, there is the opportunity for recreation. Some people like to spend their vacations resting and relaxing. If that is what they like, everything is fine. Others like to travel—to do things and see things. If you ask them, "Did you get a good rest on your vacation?" they'll reply, "Great guns, no! That's the last thing I want to do on a vacation."

Whatever you do on vacation, even resting, if you do it wholeheartedly, it will be good for you. That is recreation and recreation is good.

And, when you get back, even if the place has been running smoothly while you've been gone, you'll soon fit back into your groove so well you'll feel some importance again, even if you are not indispensable. And some people will be glad you're back—the ones who like you and the ones who've been doing your work or a part of it.

And, just think, in eleven and a half months you can start out again. We've heard that anticipation is better than realization, and anticipating a vacation for 50 weeks is bound to put zest in anyone.

Speeding And Slowing

A quip artist recently wrote a line something like this: "Big cities are trying to devise ways to speed up traffic while the little towns are still trying to make the motorists hesitate."

We probably would be the last persons in the world to second the motion of Dr. Peter J. Steincrohn, medical columnist, that traffic regulation be turned over to the federal government, for two reasons, one being that the less federal control we have the better and the other that apparently the federal government never did a better job at anything than local governments or private citizens.

We do, however, agree with the quip man. In some places you travel five or 10 miles at 25 miles an hour trying to figure out where the town is. That is, those who obey the speed signs do.

After you get through the place, you spend the next 30 minutes passing the cars that shot past you while you were in the little town. It's discouraging.

A good many magazine articles have stated that the small towns, which now have the slowest highway speed limits, should be more realistic.

Minh Raps Johnson's Action

Talks Frankly Of Backstage Intervention

MAJ. GEN. DUONG Van Minh, titular chief of staff, is doing some amazingly frank talking in private about President Johnson's latest backstage intervention in the international intrigue going on inside South Viet Nam.

He reported to French authorities in Saigon that President Johnson personally ordered the ruling military junta headed by Prime Minister Nguyen Khanh to keep control of that strife-torn country's government until "the U.S. election is out of the way."

According to "Big" Minh, the President coupled his ultimatum with a sharp warning that if any other group of military officers should take over the shaky government before Nov. 3 all U.S. military and economic aid would be cut off immediately.

This unpublished ultimatum was delivered to Generals Minh and Khanh by Ambassador Maxwell Taylor following his recent return from Washington where he conferred with top administration officials, including President Johnson.

In his private conversations with these French officials General Minh, who played a major role in the ouster and assassination of President Diem, pointed out that Johnson's message stressed "keeping the lid on further government changes until after the election."

In answers to questions, "Big" Minh told his French contacts that the Johnson ultimatum was in the form of a letter and did not contain any U.S. plans or objectives for winning the war in South Viet Nam.

"Big" Minh complained bitterly to one French contact that President Johnson even directed that the South Vietnamese military leaders pose for a series of group photographs to give a public appearance of unity among them.

THE "FIG LEAF" POLICY—Other South Viet Nam military leaders, who were briefed on the President's warning, interpreted the ultimatum to mean that it was the policy of the Johnson administration to support the French proposal for the neutralization of South Viet Nam—but not before the election.

One South Vietnamese military officer writes that worried American officials were directed by President Johnson to play an important behind-the-scenes role in foiling the attempted coup d'etat that threatened last week to overthrow Prime Minister Khanh.

He reported that Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson, whom the South Viet Nam military officers have nicknamed the "commissar," strongly voiced President Johnson's opposition to the two anti-Communist generals who led the troops that temporarily seized control of Saigon on Sept. 12-13 without firing a shot.

Ambassador Johnson, acting while Taylor was away, sent word of the White House's official condemnation in forthright terms to the two generals—Maj. Gen. Duong Van Duc, whose fourth corps troops from the Delta occupied without opposition key points in the capital, and Brig. Gen. Lam Van Phat, who was fired from his key post as interior minister by Khanh as a result of pressure from Buddhist leaders.

THE FINAL CHAPTER—In directing the intervention that upset the Sept. 12-13 coup, President Johnson reportedly took the position that the Duc-Phat military rebellion, if not promptly smashed, would force his administration to abandon plans to set up a neutralist government in South Viet Nam after the U.S. election.

U.S. military intelligence reports clearly show that neither General Duc nor General Phat wanted any part of the Johnson plan since it was already attracting pro-Communist to the Khanh government. Instead, the two young generals favored winning a military victory over the Communist Viet Cong, charging that the neutralization of South Viet Nam would mean a Communist takeover.

These same intelligence estimates credit the blunt U.S. intervention as being the blow that stopped the Duc-Phat coup. One estimate says that many top South Vietnamese officers were in sympathy with the motives of the attempted coup, but stayed loyal to the government when they learned that their U.S. military supplies would be stopped.

AT PRESENT, EACH South Vietnamese military commander has less than 20 days supplies on hand. Under these circumstances, a successful coup would have put these generals in charge but would have left them unable to wage war against the Communist Viet Cong—for lack of U.S. arms.

Still being circulated among these military officers is the final plea of courageous General Duc, made just before he was relieved of his command. In it, he bluntly warned:

"During the last few months there were many things about the government's stand that made us fear for the country's survival, for instance the return of neutralist elements in the administration. We felt that if this situation continued it might bring disaster to the nation."

General Duc, looking wooden faced and gloomy, is now under arrest in South Viet Nam. Like Paul Revere, he sounded the warning. But few were listening.

Both Parties Go On Hunt For Cash

WITH THE ELECTION less than six weeks away both Democrats and Republicans are going all-out for funds to conduct the costliest campaign in history.

The big cost, of course, will be in the Presidential election. Just how much it is going to cost perhaps neither major party knows. Six weeks ago Republican National Chairman Dean Burch indicated that the G.O.P. would spend $1,000,000 in an effort to elect the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

Burch estimated that the Democrats would spend $200,000 to re-elect President Johnson. This the Democrats promptly denied. But whatever each major party may eventually raise there is little doubt that to date the Democrats are doing better than the Republicans.

Guesses are that the Democrats have collected between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000, the Republicans around $4,000,000. The Democrats are also getting the big contributions.

RECORDS FILED with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, for instance, show that during June, July and August the Democrats received $1,800,000 for the national campaign. Of this amount 97 per cent came from persons contributing $1,000 or more each and 3 per cent from persons contributing $100 or less. The contributions reported to the Clerk of the House by any major party represent a minor portion of political spending.

Republicans claim that their contributions have more of a grass roots flavor, many in dollar bills mailed into National Committee headquarters and checks for $5, $10, $25 and $50. The Republican National Committee has said that 90 per cent of its operating funds come from $10 contributors.

But the Republicans want some $1,000 contributions and there are to be $1,000-a-plate dinners for the Goldwater-Miller ticket in 22 cities next Thursday night. There is little hope these dinners will fill the G.O.P. purse to anywhere near the amount needed.

NOT ONLY ARE the fund raisers for the national campaign writing letters and ringing door bells and telephones for money, but individuals and committees for myriad campaigns for other public office are seeking money. An estimate that candidates for all public offices this year will spend around $200,000,000.

Union Is Asking Never-Fired Deal

ATLANTIC CITY—Out of the massive steel union convention here will come the slogan: Once-hired-never-fired.

That's what the now more portly, still silver haired Steelworkers' chief, David J. McDonald is believed to have had in mind when he called for "total job security." He has taken some of the glaze off Walter Reuther's now famous "frosting" by calling on the steel industry for far more than a guaranteed annual wage.

McDonald now wants a guaranteed lifetime wage for the steelworkers—either a permanent job or permanent income provided by the industry. This, indeed, would be far better than early retirement.

Thus the usually sedate McDonald—striding the boards of this convention cavern like a perturbed Hamlet, harried by the ghost of a more mellow and less melodramatic father image of Phil Murray—swings his giant union into the tradition and tactical approach of foreign labor.

IT IS PART OF Japan's industrial paternalism that once a worker is taken on by a businessman, the employee becomes a permanent part of the "family" in the plant. The employee need never look for another job. He owes his loyalty to the employer who in turn owes his workers eternal economic security and frequently emotional peace as well.

This permanency is part of the law in many Latin lands. In some nations an employee becomes a fixed part of the firm if he lasts 10 years. After that period it is virtually impossible to fire him. And before that the cause must be enormous, since discharge is practically economic capital punishment.

Few believe that McDonald and his small inner cabinet have really spelled out, even for themselves, the full implication and technical aspects of the once-hired-never-fired program. At first the plan would involve some 450,000 hourly workers in what is called the basic steel industry—mostly those employed by the 11 major steel companies which deal jointly with the big United Steelworkers of America (U.S.A.) through a small committee headed by Conrad Cooper, a U.S. Steel vice president.

THERE IS NO estimate of what it would cost the industry to guarantee the perpetual hire of such a large force or how the "total job security" system would work in recession periods when layoffs would result from a decline in sufficient orders.

the most expensive has become that for United States Senator. Backers of Republican United States Senator Kenneth Keating of New York are making an effort to raise $1,000,000 for him in his hard race with former Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy. There has been no estimate of how much Kennedy will spend, but he and his Democratic backers are also prepared to spend lavishly.

Next most costly Senate race is expected to be that in Texas where Republican George Bush is making an effort to unseat Democrat incumbent, Ralph Yarborough. Neither seems to have any trouble getting all the funds he needs.

IN THE CALIFORNIA primary last June, Alan Cranston, unsuccessful contestant for the Democratic Senatorial nominee, reported an expenditure of $823,000, and wound up with a deficit of $150,000.

The Democrats have a source of funds denied to the Republicans. AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) will throw something like $2,000,000 and hundreds of trained workers into the campaign.

There may be a rare Republican candidate for State office or for United States Senator or Representative who will receive a COPE contribution, but mostly it will go to the Democrats. Certainly none of it will go to the Republican National ticket.

Probably $600,000 will be spent by COPE in its registration drive. It is illegal for unions, corporations or banks to use their own operating funds for political activities. However, separate organizations such as COPE, can raise voluntary contributions from individual members, and usually the amounts are $1 per union member contribution.

REPUBLICANS WHO traditionally got their biggest contributions in the Northern and Eastern States now are relying on the South and West for much of their financing. In the Goldwater primary campaign the States furnishing the largest amounts of money were California and Texas. It is expected that these will be the two top States in Goldwater contributions for the November election.

How many people make campaign contributions? There are only estimates. In 1960 it was estimated that 10,000,000 persons (about one in every seven voters) made campaign contributions at some level and that $175,000,000 was spent at all levels for all political offices by all parties.

But David McDonald is on the record now and it would be difficult for him to retreat. The 3,500 delegates to this 12th Constitutional Convention are older, stouter, less corridor-carousing than they were when they marched on steel mills in the late thirties or shut them down for months in the late fifties. But they are militant and will hold the distant McDonald to his promise.

Many of these delegates from 3,000 locals have never been happy with "Dave." Many wait like chilled fans in a wintry Saturday football stadium for someone to shout and lead the crowd onto the field to tear down the goal posts.

Louis Seaton Among Few Who Says No

DETROIT (AP) — Louis G. Seaton, General Motors vice president in charge of personnel, has won a reputation through the years for being one of the few men who can look Walter P. Reuther in the eye across a bargaining table and say "No."

The bargaining sessions between GM and the United Auto Workers have always drawn top attention in the auto industry and the Seaton-Reuther clashes have added plenty of spice to them.

The 58-year-old Seaton has been with General Motors since 1928. He served in both the sales and graphic arts departments before finding his niche in the labor relations field.

He was in on the original labor negotiations during the UAW's formative period and became GM's top labor troubleshooter.

Seaton has become known as a fellow with a real sense of humor, one who likes to take a few minutes off from the bargaining table occasionally to drop in at the press room and exchange a few pleasantries with newsmen. He has been known to take some of their money at the poker table.

Seaton seems to give off sparks during negotiations and he and Reuther take turns in trying to arouse the other's ire.

Reuther indicated this year that he was putting General Motors on the "back burner" until he got contracts worked out at Chrysler and Ford. Back burner or no, one still had the impression that the real fire was going to come when Reuther and Seaton sat down at the bargaining table. It did.

Reuther is dedicated to the proposition that GM has more to its workers. Seaton appears equally determined that GM should not be a patsy at the bargaining table, but rather should pay its just share and no more.

It was those two opposing views that had to be resolved if a GM strike was to be averted.

Officials Appeal For Money Help In Bombing Case

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — The McComb Enterprise-Journal printed a front-page appeal Friday by two Pike County officials seeking funds to use as reward money in solving recent bombings.

The appeal quoted Sheriff R. R. Warren and County prosecuting Atty. Robert Reeves as suggesting that funds be sent to the sheriff's office.

The funds would be used as a reward for information leading to a solution in the bombings and a full accounting of the funds would be made.

Warren said "We earnestly request the colored people to advise the sheriff's office whenever there is a case of fire or bombing."

"Despite the 16 bombings in the county," he said, "I have never been notified by a colored person on one of these bombings."

"Instead," Warren said, "the calls have gone directly to the FBI, COFO (the Council of Federated Organizations) or to some other agency."

"Since I am the official responsible for civil protection," Warren said, "I ask that you keep in touch with my office."

Steamship Firm Requests Union Man Latest Ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Gulf and South American Steamship Co. filed a federal suit Friday to force union ship officers to man an automated cargo vessel for its maiden voyage to South America.

The $10 million dollar Gulf the second of its kind to be completed for the American Merchant Marine, was finished this week at Avondale Shipyards here for the steamship company.

The company claims the union refused to allow its members to man the ship after the company assigned a master and three deck officers instead of the usual four deck officers carried on convention vessels.

The suit charged the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots directed its members not to man the ship. This, said the company, violates a collective bargaining agreement in which the union agreed there would be no strikes, lockouts or stoppages.

A spokesman said the idle ship is costing about $1,300 daily for dockage at the shipyard and a loss of some $2,000 in earnings.

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — Charles Robinson, an 18-year-old store clerk shot to death a cane-wielding Negro in a grocery here Friday, officers said.

Deputy Sheriff R. W. McMinn said Robinson told officers that Talmage Lindsey had been in the store prior to the shooting. Lindsey demanded checks of $50 each, which he said came from him from President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The youth told officers that Lindsey left the store but returned later.

Robinson told officers: "He raised his walking stick and threatened me. Then he struck at me. I got my rifle and warned him to leave. He struck at my head and I caught a blow on my left wrist. He struck at me again and I fired five times."

Goldwater Talks Of Budget Balancing

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Friday "the federal budget should be balanced, but the question of balancing the budget "need not be linked with an arbitrary period of time."

The Republican presidential candidate's statement was in answer to one of a series of questions on economic, fiscal, monetary and trade affairs submitted by Business Week magazine. Goldwater's replies were published in a copyright article in the Sept. 26 issue.

Goldwater said that budget problems of government in some ways parallel those that can confront a business executive.

"What it must do is to follow a steady and dependable policy, setting its spending programs and tax rates so that the budget will be in balance when the economy is prosperous and prices are stable," the senator was quoted.

"Expansionary and inflationary forces beyond that point then will produce surpluses, while recessionary and deflationary forces may produce short-lived deficits."

"These will balance out over a reasonably short period. In fact it is possible not only to keep the debt from rising but actually to reduce it."

Goldwater was asked if his automatic tax-cut proposal was contingent on a balanced budget in the year it becomes effective, and whether the program would be started in 1965, 1966 or 1967 if he were elected.

"The scheduled tax cuts I have proposed should be put into effect when the upward trend in spending has been brought to a halt and deficits in good times have been eliminated," the GOP candidate said.

He said it was impossible to foresee exactly when conditions would be right but that he would start his program at the earliest possible date.

As to federal expenditure areas where substantial savings in outlays could be achieved, Goldwater said: "Overnight, there isn't much chance of making substantial cuts because we have to respect commitments already made by the government."

"What we can do at once is to stop the rise in government spending and avoid new federal programs until we can weed out old, wasteful ones."

"Over the longer run, it's a different story. We can make savings in a number of areas. Foreign aid is one such area, though there are problems of transition."

Goldwater also mentioned opportunities in what he called the miscellany of programs that properly fall within the responsibility of the state and local government.

Asked "what about defense expenditures," he replied: "I

'GESTAPO, BLACKMAIL, IGNORAMUS'

Senator Says Politicians Use 'Gutter Sniping'

NEW YORK (AP) — "What kind of madness is upon us?" Sen. Karl E. Mundt asked plaintively.

The South Dakota Republican was referring this week to what he called "gutter-sniping" charges and countercharges being hurled by both sides in the presidential campaign.

A look back at the speeches shows they have included such accusations as "gestapo," "sleazy smear," "blackmail," "lying" and "raving."

Mundt had a few more examples. "Ignoramus, crook, warmonger, demagogue, trigger-happy, vote thief — these are some of the terms we hear bootied about by candidates for president of the greatest country in the world," Mundt said.

His statement made no distinction between President Johnson and Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

But Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Johnson's running mate, professed to see the statement as favorable to Goldwater in lumping both candidates together.

"I think that Sen. Mundt is trying to take the curse off some of the vituperation which has come from the Goldwater faction," Humphrey said.

He declared that for Mundt to include Johnson in the charges was "not fair; the President has conducted a clean campaign."

On the Republican side, National Chairman Dean Burch commented: "It is not surprising that political leaders have begun to point out the excesses of the Democratic campaign."

"The Democrats have imposed upon the television screens of our homes a series of horror films unparalleled in the field of political television. They have used with regularity such terms as 'reckless,' 'irresponsible,' 'extremist' and 'trigger happy.'"

"The public is reacting against the violent Democratic campaign and will register their protest on Nov. 3."

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey declined to comment on the Mundt statement.

Johnson, who has not mentioned Goldwater by name, raised Republican hackles Tuesday by declaring in a speech in Atlantic City, N.J., "it takes a man who loves his country to build a house instead of a raving, ranting demagogue who wants to tear one down." He did not mention any name.

Rep. William E. Miller, Goldwater's running mate, replied that the President had included two lies in one sentence.

Miller said that to call Goldwater a "raving, ranting demagogue" was a lie and President Johnson knows it.

"His charge that Sen. Goldwater would rather destroy than build," Miller added, "is a lie and he knows it."

Following is a sample of some of the other sharper statements made recently:

Johnson on elections in Washington, Sept. 23: It is a choice between the center and the fringe, between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes of American life.

Goldwater on Johnson in Springfield, Mo., Sept. 18: He is not a savior of the people's money. He is a spender — the wildest spender of them all.

In Dallas, Tex., Sept. 23: "Johnson and his curious crew live in a dream world" in dealing with communism. "They have wishbones where they need a backbone. The result is a policy of weakness. The result is war, Johnson's war, in Viet Nam."

In Chicago, Sept. 11: "A power-wielding, arm-twisting President who 'gets his program through Congress' by knowing the use of power. There have been other such wielders of power. There have been dictators."

In Concord, N.H., Sept. 25: "Johnson is using 'arm-twisting, threats, blackmail' in an effort to win approval of the administration's medicare plan. Goldwater on corruption in Wichita, Kan., Sept. 24: "The Billie Sol Estes case casts 'grave reflections right across the White House itself — more than just a scandal — a sordid picture of favoritism and fraud. It is a study in the operations and attitude of some of the top officials of government, many of whom are still with us."

Goldwater on violence in the streets in Prescott, Ariz., Sept. 3: The Johnson administration is yielding to the "way of mobs in the street, restrained only by the plea that they wait until after election time to invite violence once again."

In Minneapolis, Sept. 10: "I charge that the more the federal government has attempted to legislate morality, the more it has incited hatreds and violence."

Humphrey on violence in the streets in Santa Fe, N.M., Sept. 13: "I doubt I could draw any other conclusions than the fact that the senator from Arizona is equating the violence that takes place in certain cities with the race issue and the civil rights bill. I regret to see this sort of display of playing upon the emotions of the American people."

Miller on Johnson administration in Medford, Ore., Sept. 24: "A man of great elasticity of principle."

In Idaho Falls, Idaho, Sept. 22: Accused the administration of using "gestapo-state methods" to discredit him by circulating "sleazy, unsubstantiated smears." He denied owning stock in any corporation in his congressional district.

In Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 22: Charged that a number of federal agencies provided the Democratic National Committee and "certain favored communists" with information about him in an effort to curb his campaign.

Cuban Suspends Bahaman Flight To Quel Furor

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Cuba has decided to suspend immediately its controversial flight service to Nassau, the Bahamian government said Friday.

Although only one flight was made, last Monday, the proposed weekly service raised a tremendous furor here.

The Bahamian government had served notice it would do everything it could to prevent Cuba from continuing the flights.

Sir Ralph Grey, Bahamian governor, issued this statement: "His excellency the governor has been advised this afternoon that the proposal to institute regularly scheduled flights from Havana to Nassau has been suspended forthwith by the Cuban government."

The flight service was made possible by a 1948 agreement despite heavy censure from Bahamian officials.

However, the government fully within their rights in starting the service, but that the Cuban government has decided to suspend the service forthwith seemed to leave the door open for Fidel Castro to resume the flights.

"It is understood that the Cuban government considers that Cubana (Airlines) were in order to allow time for consultations at leisure," it said.

Officials declined to elaborate on what kind of consultations might be held and between whom.

Under the 1948 agreement, Cuba was required only to notify England that it planned the flights. Bahamian permission was not required.

Nicaraguan Plot Ends With Youths

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The government said Friday it had discovered a plot to assassinate President Rene Schick, former President Luis Somoza and his brother, Gen. Anastasio Somoza. Four youths were arrested.

A government announcement Thursday said there had been a Castroite plot to unseat President Schick and that details would be given out later. That announcement did not mention an assassination plot.

TONS PER ACRE

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — For the first time in history, Georgia farmers have produced more than a ton of tobacco per acre.

The Crop Reporting Service of the University of Georgia says farmers passed the one-ton-a-acre mark in 1963 with a yield of 2,003 pounds — 503 pounds above the goal set for 1965.

Against Castro, Cuba presently maintains air links with Mexico and Spain only. There has been speculation that Mexico might sever its link if the new president breaks relations with Cuba.

When the Soviet-built, Ilyushin airliner landed Monday, an angry crowd of 500 met it and shouted, "Communists, go home." Tourist interests predicted the flights would crimp their business, mainstay of the economy.

The Bahamian government also vigorously opposed the flights. It sent two ministers to London to detail the government's complaints.

After the meeting in London, a joint statement was issued. The British government said it would stand by the agreement. The Bahamian officials said that any passengers arriving on the Cuban planes would be deported.

Both Teams Tally In Fourth Quarter

The West Monroe Rebels scored from one yard out in the fourth period after a 64 yard pass play from quarterback Ronnie Wiggins to Danny Perkins, to gain a 6-6 tie with the highly favored Jesuit Blue Flyers of Shreveport at Rebel Stadium Friday night.

After two Rebel passes had failed on its own 35, Wiggins connected to Perkins to put the ball on the one yard line with 2:10 remaining in the game. A drive up the middle by Larry Bowling, West Monroe fullback, failed and Wiggins ran it over on a sneak play.

The try for the extra point by Ray Alexander, which would have put the Rebels ahead 7-6, was thwarted when the center sent the ball sailing over his head.

Jesuit's touchdown had come only five minutes earlier. The Flyers had forced West Monroe to punt and set up operations on its own 49. Two successive runs by the Jesuit fullback took the ball to the Rebel 38. From this RUSTON (Special) — Ruston's double-A Bearcats scored in each quarter here Friday night to roll to their second victory of the season over Ouachita, 30-0.

The triple-A Lions from Monroe improved football, but couldn't catch the tough Bearcat defense as Ouachita

The game was nip and tuck throughout the first three quarters, both teams penetrating

Houston Upsets Texas A&M With Strong Defense

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston backed the passing of Jack Skog and the running of Dick Post with a magnificent defense and the Cougars upset Texas A&M, 10-0 Friday night.

The Houston defense surprised a crowd of 30,000 by preventing the Aggies from crossing midfield the first 51 minutes of play.

Aided by a pass interference penalty, the Aggies then cut loose with two serious threats only to be halted by the Cougar defensive platoon at the 39 and nine-yard lines.

Neville Blasts By Fair Park

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

Neville's Tigers rolled for three first half touchdowns with precision and authority, then fought off a furious Fair Park comeback to register a 29-14 district 1-AAA victory here Friday night.

The Tigers of Coach Charlie Brown got superman play from its entire defensive unit, holding Fair Park to only nine yards total offense the first half and allowing no first downs, plus sparkling offensive performances from such backs as quarterback Kenny Cobb, and halfbacks Bobby Robinson and Dale Young to chalk up a comfortable 19-0 lead by intermission. Fair Park came back strong the second half, scoring both

V. T. Smith on a halfback pass-or-run option play. Troegel tackled on the extra point.

Bobby Robinson, who led all Neville rushers with 70 yards in 10 carries, put the Tigers back on the scoreboard again with 1:57 left in the third quarter when he climaxed a 75-yard drive on a power play over right guard from three yards out. A 17 yard gain by Young, on a trap play over left guard, highlighted the drive.

Clark kicked the PAT and Neville led, 26-7.

The visiting Indians came back for their other score midway in the fourth quarter on a 51-yard drive sparked by the passing of quarterbacks Tommy Roberts and Tommy Shea, plus three penalties against Neville.

Fullback Steve Jones, Fair Park's leading rusher with 48 yards, got the touchdown with 5:22 left in the third quarter when he plunged over from the two. Troegel kicked the point after, cutting the Neville lead to 26-14.

Neville took the following kickoff and kept the ball for all but 19 seconds of the game, driving for a touchdown only to have it called back, and finally registering three points on Moncrief's fieldgoal.

After moving to the four yard line, despite two 15-yard clipping penalties, Cobb scored on a fourth down rollout play but it was nullified by another clip, moving the ball to the 16 from where Moncrief made his boot.

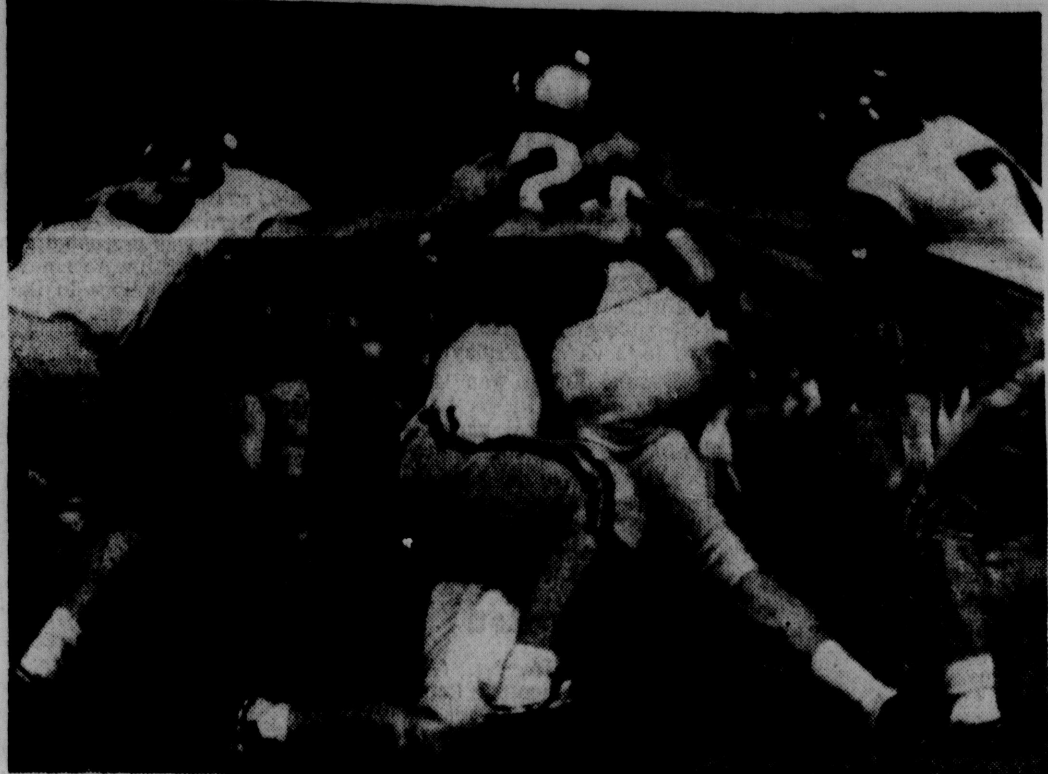

For the entire game, Neville lost 101 yards on 11 penalties while the Indians were penalized five times for 45 yards.

Cobb finished the night with 64 yards on nine carries. Young chipped in 42 on eight tries and McSherry had 26 on five trips to help Robinson carry the Neville lead offensively.

Race Growing Closer; Phillies Beaten Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Mathews singled in the tie-breaking run as Milwaukee scored two runs in the 12th inning and defeated Philadelphia 7-5, cutting the Phillies' dwindling National League lead to 1 1/2 games.

The loss, the Phillies' fifth straight, enabled second-place Cincinnati to gain 1 1/2 games on the floundering leaders. The Reds swept a doubleheader from New York. The Phillies, with just seven games left, also saw their advantage over the Reds in the loss column drop to one. Cincinnati has eight games remaining.

Gary Kolb started the Braves' winning rally with an infield single. One out later, Gene Oliver walked. Mathews followed

Yankees Edge Washington 6-5

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roger Maris slammed his second homer of the game in the ninth inning, lifting the American League-leading New York Yankees to their 10th straight victory, 6-5 over Washington Friday night.

The triumph reduced the Yankees' magic number to five. Any combination of New York victories and Baltimore or Chicago losses would clinch the pennant for the Yankees.

Maris, whose two-run homer in the seventh inning cut the Washington lead to 5-4, smashed his 26th homer off reliever Jim Hannan with one out in the ninth.

Joe Pepitone tied the game 5-5 with his 26th homer off Ron Kline in the eighth inning. The Senators jumped into a three-run lead in the second inning off Jim Bouton. Mike Brumley singled and went to third on John Kennedy's double to right.

With two away, Don Blasingame beat out a hit to Bobby Richardson at second, and both runners scored and Blasingame took second when Richardson threw wild past first. Don Zimmer singled, scoring Blasingame.

The Yankees came back with two in the fourth on singles by Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard. Pepitone's run-scoring infield out, and a single by Tom Tresh.

its touchdowns and controlling the ball much of the time. However, Neville held on and padded its lead with Robinson's second touchdown of the night and a 32 yard field goal by Monty Moncrief in the last half to win its third straight contest and second in league play.

MUCH HEROICS

Much of the heroics against Fair Park came from such defensive stalwarts as middle linebacker Robert McSherry who had 15 tackles, middle guard Mike Pearson, who registered 10 tackles, and tackle Ronnie DeMoss and Steve Gilchrist who had seven and eight individual tackles respectively.

Again speed and play execution told much of the story for Neville. Cobb, Neville's senior signal caller who gets better every game, led the first half assault which netted three tallies.

The slender 147-pounder connected for two straight passes, the only ones Neville completed during the night, midway in the first quarter with the second going to Robinson for 37 yards, and the Bengals' first touchdown.

After taking over the ball at the Neville 49, Cobb fired complete to end Larry Sheffield, who made a leaping catch, on the Fair Park 37. From here Cobb turned trouble into a tally when he scooped up his own fumble on an attempted roll out, spotted Robinson all alone at the 10 and calmly hit him for the easy touchdown.

Moncrief missed the PAT boot and with 7:21 left in the first period Neville led 6-0. After both clubs failed to mount a drive, Fair Park punted to Neville from its own 32. Neville then gave the crowd a

POINT FAILED

Again the point after failed, this time on a kick by Clark, and Neville led 12-0 with 47 left in the first quarter.

The Tigers added one more for good measure late in the second quarter when it took over on the Fair Park 47 with about 7:00 remaining. From here the Bengals mounted a 13 play drive around the running of Cobb, plus a 15 yard pass interference penalty against Fair Park.

Cobb raced for runs of eight, and 12 yards before punching the ball over from the one with 5:1 left in the half. This time Moncrief successfully booted the PAT for a 19-0 lead.

Fair Park looked like a different club, offensively, the second half. Taking the kickoff, the Indians set up operations on their own 34 and bulldozed 76 yards for a touchdown. The drive took 14 plays and ate up all but 4:23 of the third quarter.

Several Neville penalties aided the Fair Park drive which was climaxed by a 10-yard scoring pass from Butch Troegel to

AMERICAN COLLEGE GIRL

British Women's Amateur Golf Taken By Sorenson

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Carol Sorenson, a 21-year-old American college student, pulled back a three-hole deficit on the home stretch Friday and won the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship by beating tiring Bridget Jackson of England one up at the 37th hole.

Carole, a member of the victorious United States Curtis Cup team, had lost to Miss Jackson in the cup matches. She was on the verge of defeat again Friday when she was three down after 28 holes of the 36-hole final over the 6,017-yard Prince's course.

But the determined youngster from Janesville, Wis., playing with a driver given her by Curtis Cup teammate Barbara Fay White of Shreveport, La., won three of the next four holes to square the match. Then, after missing a chance to win on the 36th, she took the extra hole and the match with a birdie four.

Miss Sorenson, an Arizona State University student, thus became the fifth American girl to win the title since the tournament began in 1893. The others were Babe Didrikson Zaharias in 1947, Louise Suggs in 1948, Wiffi Smith in 1956 and Barbara McIntire in 1960. Miss McIntire was eliminated in the first round this year. Miss Jackson, a tall, strong girl with a perpetual dimpled smile, was in a high good humor when she went three up with only eight holes to go. But she apparently tired and fell into a series of errors.

Both players muffed chances to win on the 36th hole. Miss Sorenson hit the edge of the green and her ball rolled down into a little gully while Miss Jackson slapped her second well onto the green. Carol wedged up too boldly and was 18 feet past the flag but Bridget left her first putt four feet short.

The American girl missed her long putt by about two inches and was stuck with a bogey five. Then Miss Jackson missed her short one and they went on to sudden death play.

On the extra hole the blonde Miss Sorenson pulled off a fine second shot that left her nine feet from the pin on the 437-yard hole. She got down in two putts for her birdie. Miss Jackson overshot her second, chipped putt to take a five.

"I was down, but I just kept fighting hard. I knew that Bridget would have to make a mistake some time," Carol said as she trudged back to receive the gleaming silver cup. "Perhaps Bridget got a little tired. I saw her starting to hit her shots a bit to the right and not too clean and I thought I had a good chance."

Tigers Visit Houston For Match With Rice

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University and Louisiana State meet Saturday night in one of the oldest and most consistent intercollegiate football rivalries in the South.

The game will be the 34th in a series that had its beginning in 1914. LSU claims an 18-11 edge despite the fact the Louisiana team has not defeated the Owls since 1959.

Rice Head Coach Jess Neelley will be beginning his 25th consecutive year as the head man of the Owls.

This year the Demons surprised SFA 34-14 and the Wildcats lost to Louisiana College 8-7 after leading 7-0 in the last quarter.

The two leaders were 11 under the course standard with 199s and one stroke back was Dudley Wysong, who totaled 200 after his third round 65.

You Be Quarterback

(Answer) No. 1. Short pass. With goal posts and end zone so close behind you, you don't have maneuvering room for long pass. Few quarterbacks throw long running pass accurately. Your best chance of gaining well is with completed short pass and long run. Receiver usually has better open field possibility than runner from scrimmage.

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Lake Village, Ark., did all its damage in the first half to topple Lake Providence Panthers, 16-7, here Friday night.

Larry Hill scored both Lake Village touchdowns, the first in the opening period on a three-yard plunge after a 98-yard drive, and the next in the second quarter when Hill took a screen pass and rambled 48 yards to paydirt.

Lake Village got two points on a safety just ahead of the second period TD when Arkansas defenders ganged the Panthers' Van Hicks Jr., knocking him out of the end zone after a bad pass from center. Dempsey Allen kicked points behind each Hill TD.

Lake Providence generated its only offensive of the night after recovering a Lake Village fumble in the third period. The Panthers covered the fumble on the Lake Village 46. A Van Hicks Jr. pass to Jerry Graham covered 25 yards as the key advance play to set up a five-yard touchdown rollout for Hicks. David Clarkson kicked the point.

Hill, fullback, and Allen, a guard, were outstanding for Lake Village, while Hicks and Don Washam stodd out for the Panthers.

Newellton, 27-13

NEWELLTON (Special) — Paul Williams and Danny Cannon scored two touchdowns apiece Friday night in Newellton's come-from-behind 27-13 victory over the Crowville Bulldogs.

Crowville took a first quarter lead on quarterback Gale Ashley's 20-yard pass to Donnie Harper.

Williams tied the score in the second period on a one-yard plunge capping an 87-yard drive, the Carey Walker run the point sent the Bears ahead.

Newellton scored two third quarter touchdowns, both on passes with Ted Grace throwing to Cannon. Williams ran the point behind Cannon's first score, and Walker ran the next.

Williams climaxed a 53-yard Newellton drive in the final period with a five-yard run for the last touchdown.

Crowville also went 53 yards for a last quarter TD with Donald Payne cracking over from the one.

Tallulah, 18-0

TALLULAH (Special) — The Tallulah Trojans won their third straight game Friday night by downing Caldwell of Columbia 18-0 in a district 2-A tilt.

The Trojans scored their first touchdown after a 54-yard first quarter drive when fullback Mike Luckett bolted seven yards off right tackle to the end-zone. End Don Martin's kick was wide.

Tallulah threatened again in the first quarter when they drove to the Caldwell one yard line but were stopped by a tight Caldwell defense.

Wingback Bobby Todd scored the next Trojan touchdown when he took the ball on a reverse play and went 41 yards to the end zone. Simpson kicked the point behind Grafton's last tally.

A Maynor-to-White pass accounted for Cotton Valley's lone TD in the third quarter, Maynor kicked the point.

The Wildcats' biggest threat was passes, but the Bears managed to contain most.

Ronnie Lautig sparked the Bernie defense with ten tackles, two pass interceptions and recovery of a fumble. Simpson stood out as a linebacker in addition to his offensive thrusts, and Mike Reed stood out as a defensive tackle.

Orange tallied in the second period on a 23-yard pass from Joey Robins to John LaCroix.

LaGrange ranked third in triple-A, scored when Al Doucet raced 70 yards after taking a handoff from Steve Spruill who

Winnfield Wins

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — The Winnfield Tigers squeaked out a 12-6 victory over Natchitoches in a non-district game here Friday night.

The Tigers jumped into a brief second quarter lead when halfback Jim Duncan raced six yards for the first score of the ball game. The extra point attempt failed.

Natchitoches quickly erased this lead in the same quarter as Ken Kuhlman took a 12-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bobby McLamore. Natchitoches' extra point attempt also failed and this left the game tied at 6-6.

Winnfield scored the game winning touchdown in the third quarter when Duncan plunged one yard to pay dirt. The Tigers marched 70 yards before adding this final six points. Winnfield's try for the extra point again failed.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Tigers recovered a Winnsboro fumble on the Wildcat 19 before quarterback Petty Randall threw a pass to wingback Smith Hopkins for the touchdown on a play that covered 25 yards. The attempt for the point after failed on a run.

In the same period, LaSalle pounced on another Wildcat fumble, this time on the Tigers' own 25. The Tigers marched downfield and again Randall passed to Hopkins for 16 yards to score. A kick for the extra point failed.

The Tigers came back in the third period, receiving the kick-off on the Tiger 39, scoring nine plays later — including two passes that covered 37 yards total — with Randall going over from the one. He ran the extra point.

LaSalle got its last touchdown in the final stanza after getting the ball on the Tiger 24 when Winnsboro ran out of downs. A sustained drive was climaxed when fullback Dwain Kirkham plunged across from the two. The try for the extra point was no good.

It was LaSalle's third victory of the season while the Wildcats had won two going into the game.

LaSalle had 11 first downs to Winnsboro's seven, rolling up 103 yards on the ground and 145 in the air, completing seven passes. Winnsboro had 148 yards rushing and passed with out success four times.

Chance Takes Twentieth Win As Angels Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dean Chance became the first American League pitcher to win 20 games as the Los Angeles Angels nipped Minnesota 1-0 Friday night on an eighth-inning triple by Bob Perry and a wild pitch.

Chance, 20-8, allowed eight hits but gained his 11th shutout in a pitching duel with Jim Kaat, 17-9. Kaat allowed five hits.

It was Chance's fifth 1-0 victory this season, tying a major league record shared by four others.

Chalk One Up For Football

By Keith Prince

Pick one day out of the year, any day, and look at it. It looks small, probably insignificant as compared to the other 364. But give it a name and a date, say like Saturday, Sept. 26, and it gains importance swiftly.

This day, in 1964, is the second official playing date of collegiate football this season and there will be many decisions made, many questions answered.

Today will be particularly fulfilling for football fans of this state. Most Louisianans, first of all, are LSU fans. Secondly, they are followers of the Southeastern Conference and the Gulf States Conference. It doesn't matter which of the three come first to you. All will undergo events today which should help foretell their future during the remainder of this football season.

At Houston, Tex., on South Main street, Louisiana State will take a giant step toward finding out what caliber football team it has this year. Throughout the south, fans will begin to get a clearer picture of what to expect in the SEC. And, in Ruston, La., the entire state is just liable to find out who will win this year's GSC football championship.

Louisiana State Vs. Rice

The men of the hour here, for they will most likely have the final say about who wins the game, are the quarterbacks. It's the opinion from this corner that the club with the best quarterback tonight will win. The winner might not even be the best team, but the quarterback shall prevail.

The above statement should give some idea as to how important Pat Screen and Walter McReynolds are to their teams.

Coach Jess Neely, beginning his 25th year at Rice University, is given a good chance of winning the Southwest Conference this year — if Walter McReynolds has the year he is capable of.

Coach Charles McClendon, beginning his third year at LSU, is given an excellent chance of improving on last year's 7-3 record — if Pat Screen has the year he is capable of.

Of course, health is an important consideration and is especially in the minds of Bengals fans after last fall.

Screen's importance shown through brightly last Saturday in Baton Rouge as he danced and twisted for 67 yards on the ground and threw for 116 more on eight completions out of 12 tries.

Aside from statistics, when Screen's in the game LSU is a threat to do so many more things. He is lightning quick, capable of going all the way from anywhere, his passing is definitely above respectability and, from a spectator's viewpoint, when he's playing the game is never dull because of his abilities.

Of course, the 15 yard gain Screen made in the third quarter against A&M describes his potential better than words. As Coach Neely of Rice said early

Louisiana Tech Vs. McNeese

"The Gulf States Conference is sublimely aggressive. If McNeese, possibly the best small college football team in the country, is not example enough, take Louisiana Tech." These words came from the current issue of Sports Illustrated, the top weekly sports publication in America.

And so true they are. For years it seemed the Gulf States Conference has produced premium quality football teams to no avail — from the publicity standpoint. Time and again this conference has been snubbed on rating polls. And most times it happened, evidently, simply because our eastern sports writing friends "didn't notice" the Louisiana league.

However, it has finally reached the point where GSC teams can go longer be overlooked. McNeese probably did more for the cause than anyone last fall when it practically repeated Sherman's march to the sea by recording an 8-0 season in which the Cowboys scored 222 points while the opposition tallied 52.

Also contributing to the growing interest in the GSC is Louisiana Tech's ambitious scheduling for future years which includes opening games against Rice (in 1965) and Alabama (1966).

But that's getting ahead of the story. Now, we are beginning the 1964 season and both McNeese and Louisiana Tech seem headed for banner years.

Coach Joe Aillet's Tech Bulldogs, which finished behind McNeese last fall, returns 29 let-

A Week Of Unreality

It's a shame we don't have several pages to expound upon the talent of pronostication at this time, since we surely must reign as the king of the trade this week.

Although destiny is unfortunately calling us down the trail of doom this week, we must present last Saturday's results with pleasure.

To cut all this gib short, we had one of those "impossible" weeks and correctly picked 18 of the 20 games correctly, including our prize — Texas Tech over Mississippi State.

However, as if to prove this business is all luck anyway, the two we missed were those which should have been easiest for us. After all, if you don't know the situation at home you shouldn't be off "predicting about folks" elsewhere. (We termen while Les DeVall returns 22 numeral winners from last year's all-conquering club.

However, one of the two is headed for a bump in the road rather suddenly. Tonight's clash in Ruston is billed as the GSC game of the year with the winner having a clear shot at winning the conference.

The game has to be rated a near toss up although Louisiana Tech appears to have several slight advantages. First, the Bulldogs already have one game under their belt — last Saturday's 8-7 victory over Louisiana College.

Many folks seem to have the impression that Tech may not have the team expected of it after having to struggle past La. College. But it must be remembered, Tech was knocking on the door all night. Also, in all probability Aillet wanted to test his ground game thoroughly in the opener and for this reason didn't unleash quarterback Billy Laird to do much throwing until it became necessary.

A couple of other things the 'Dogs have going for themselves include: 1. Tech hasn't lost a GSC game at home in 10 years. 2. Tech has lost only one game in Ruston since 1957. 3. McNeese humiliated Tech, 27-6, last year.

It seems to all add up to a plus for the Bulldogs. Still McNeese is the defending champion and, as always, the champ is still the champ until somebody proves he isn't.

missed Northeast's loss and Northwestern's win.)

This week our .900 percentage is expected to resemble the Alamo — afterwards.

TWO LOUISIANA TECH guards who will have their work cut out for them in Ruston tonight against McNeese State are sophomore Wayne Mathews (left) of Springhill and freshman Jim Willis of Monroe. Tech and McNeese clash in the first crucial contest in the Gulf States Conference.

La. Tech Battles Cowboys Tonight

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech, still smarting after a 27-6 loss to McNeese State last year when the Cowboys marched on to the Gulf States Conference title and an undefeated season, tangles with the Lake Charles crew here tonight in a crucial league contest.

McNeese manhandled the Bulldogs so decisively last

Friday that preparation for McNeese Tech edged Louisiana College 8-7 by coming from behind in the fourth period last week. After this tilt, McNeese continues on the road to play Howard College and Tampa University while Tech meets highly-regarded East Texas State here Oct. 3.

Coach Joe Aillet of Tech said

We are well aware of the experienced material that McNeese has and the versatility of Coach Les DeVall's individual players. His teams pose problems for all the opposition," Aillet said.

Aillet said that for some reason people in this area have been looking forward to this game with more interest than usual and that there is exceptional student and faculty interest. He credited the enlarged Tech band with making vital contributions.

"The game itself bids fair to be one of the great ones of the year and surrounded with such interest and enthusiasm it should be a great experience for the spectators. I just wish we could accommodate all the people who would like to see the game," Aillet said. The Bulldog stadium will seat less than 7,000 and the college now has over 5,000 students.

REGARDLESS OF POLITICS

Bea Tells Council Fathers Jews Must Be Exonerated

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Regardless of political consequences, Augustin Cardinal Bea told the Vatican Ecumenical Council it must push through a declaration exonerating Jews of sole blame for the crucifixion of Christ.

Amid applause, the 83-year-old head of the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat presented a revised version Friday of a statement on Roman Catholic relations with Jews and other non-Catholics and said it must be adopted, even at the risk of the Church "being accused of pursuing political ends."

This was an obvious reference to reports that the Church has been under pressure from some Arab nations to lessen emphasis on its Jewish document.

Without directly alluding to the reported Arab pressure, Cardinal Bea said firmly: "This cannot be a question of politics. We are not speaking here of Zionism. We are not speaking here of the political State of Israel. We are speaking of the followers of the Law of Moses.

This is an entirely religious question."

Vatican sources said changes were made in the original text by a council coordination commission earlier this year. The revisions became public properly and touched off an outcry in Jewish and some Roman Catholic circles because the changes seemed to water down the original text, and introduce a new element on the eventual conversion of the Jewish people to the Christian faith.

The reasons behind the changes have remained obscure but Vatican informants say last year's document — absolving the Jews of decide and attributing responsibility for the crucifixion to "the sins of man" — was strengthened and clarified in March by Cardinal Bea's secretariat.

This document has never been published. But at a later stage, while before the coordinating commission, the attribution of responsibility to "the sins of man" was dropped. So was the formal statement that Jewish people as a whole were not responsible for decide.

What remains is a declaration that the Jews of today are in no way responsible for the death of Christ, plus an expression of hope for some future union of Jews with Christianity.

Council experts said they expected a vigorous effort to restore the flavor of the original text when formal debate opens Monday.

"You are going to hear objections to these omissions," one expert said. "The bishops are going to want to know why these things have not been put in."

Cardinal Bea, head of the Christian Unity Secretariat, referred specifically to the charge of decide in his address Friday. He said it was a factor of history that the entire Jewish people had been despised and persecuted because culpability for the death of Christ had been laid at their door. The cardinal pointed out that Jews of that day — numbering about 4.5 million — were scattered through the Roman Empire.

"Could all these people be said to be equally guilty?" he asked.

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Earl Francis Staller, of Pennel, Pa., has been arrested in connection with the slaying of five-year-old Jean Worthington, also of Pennel. Police Chief Howard C. Shook of Middletown Township said young Staller has signed a statement and admitted choking the girl. Autopsy has shown the death was caused by strangulation and the child's neck was broken. IMPLIES SUMMIT TALKS

Johnson Pledges To Work For Peace By All Means

WITH PRESIDENT JOHNSON (AP) — President Johnson delivered a pledge Friday "to go anywhere and talk to anyone in a search for world peace and freedom." And he spoke out against voices in this land that he said demand "belligerence" as the alternate for peace.

The President held the way open for a post-election summit session with Soviet Premier Khrushchev or other world leaders.

He did this at El Paso, Tex., where he greeted Mexico's president and saluted the settlement of a boundary dispute that had run on for decades.

It was there that he promised to go anywhere or talk to anyone to promote peace and freedom and to stand firm against aggressors.

Then, at the end of a strenuous three-state stumping schedule, the President stood on another border, between Texas and Arkansas, to dedicate a monument to the late President John F. Kennedy, and call also for "peace in the lives of our own people."

This was in Texarkana which straddles the boundary of these two states.

In his prepared address there, he said that in order to protect America's gains "we must guard against those who would erect around our regions or our states areas of hate or misunderstanding."

"All that we are — all that we hope to be," Johnson said, "is placed in mortal jeopardy by those who set class against class, creed against creed, color against color or section against section."

Johnson said he spoke with a heart full of hope and promise and then added: "But there are voices in the land tonight that have a strange and brittle tone. They cry out that we are weak and soft and blind. They insist the way to the future is the road back into the past."

"They demand suspicion as the price of liberty and belligerence as the alternate for peace. They just can't seem to find anything right in our beloved country. All they find is wrong."

"But, thank God, truth is eternal. Truth is the weapon of the people and their shield against dishonor. It will protect them from false prophets and it will save them from cruel hopes."

Without ever identifying the voices he mentioned, Johnson said the truth is the nation never was stronger or more prosperous. "The truth says Social Security, minimum wages, TVA and rural electrification, the free enterprise system are right although the voices say they are wrong," he said.

In similar vein, he said that: "Today we ask for equality and justice for all citizens under our Constitution. The voices say this is wrong, but the truth says it is right."

Facing to the South, Johnson said, he wanted to repeat the words of Robert E. Lee: "Abandon all these local animosities and make your sons Americans."

MRS. ADDISON K. GOFF III

Stephanie Glen Hearn Weds Addison Goff III

First Baptist church of Ruston was scene of a candlelight ceremony which united in marriage Miss Stephanie Glen Hearn and Addison Kennon Goff III on Saturday, September 11 at 5 p.m. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kendall Hearn and Mr. and Mrs. Addison Kennon Goff Jr., all of Ruston.

Rev. Samuel A. Dyson performed the ceremony in a setting of candle trees and branched candelabra holding myriad white tapers, interspersed with baskets of stock and greenery flanking a fan shaped arrangement of white gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums.

Miss Michaela Wells presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Patricia Wells.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of crystal peau de soie embellished with appliques of lace reembroidered with iridescent and pearls. The voluminous skirt featured double panels of lace in front and sides, sweeping to back fullness which terminated in a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of organza petals and lily of the valley.

She carried a crescent bouquet of white pearlized rosebuds and pearl streamers.

Newcomers Honored At Shrimp Supper

Informality was the keynote last night when Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Gates, new residents in Monroe, were honored by a group of anesthesiologists and their wives at a shrimp supper held at the Paragon.

The center table, covered in a red and white checked cloth, was centered with an appropriate black iron container filled with flowers and trimmed with ingredients used in a shrimp boil. The other tables, also covered in red and white checked cloths, held small red kerosene lanterns.

Ironing Board Makes Ideal Homework Desk

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: Are you tired of having the table cluttered with school books and papers when the children are doing homework? Take out your adjustable ironing board and set it up in any room, at the height is best for your child, and you have a perfect substitute for a desk. Two of my smaller children can do their homework at the same time on this ironing board-desk. My college son takes the ironing board into his room at night and says that he can raise it high enough that he doesn't have to be all stooped over. When you are short on space, it is better than a desk because you can fold it up and get it out of the way. Mrs. Louise Mitchell

A great substitute when not in use for ironing. My daughter has started using ours for her portable sewing machine. Holds everything.

Dear Heloise: For blue jeans that stay blue, look for the words "vat-dyed" on the label. Many mothers (who do most of the buying) don't know that vat-dyed denim is usually of excellent quality and therefore more durable as well as color-fast through repeated washings. Elaine Siegel

Dear Heloise: I would like to offer my suggestion for packing lunches for a large family. Just to add variety and interest to the lunch, I cut the sandwiches in different shapes and sizes - in small triangles or squares. After putting the sandwiches in the waxed bags, I use a felt-tip marker to label each one, such as "E" for egg, "C" for cheese, "T" for tun, etc. When I am ready to pack the lunches, it is easy to pick out the type of sandwich each member of the family prefers. FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN
Dear Folks: Don't just scrape and empty out that mayonnaise jar and then wash it. Save it. Pour some vinegar and a bit of oil in it, add a few condiments, such as celery salt, paprika, garlic salt and pepper and put the top back on the jar. Swish it around and shake it hard. Good dressing for your lettuce salads, besides that dab of vinegar will cut the grease in the mayonnaise jar immediately. Makes for easier washing if you save jars as I do. Heloise

Banish Dull PTA Meetings
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI)—Anybody who has set squirming and bored through a long, dull meeting of any sort will know how members of the Oak School PTA felt when they decided to be different. They decided that, in the first place, the faithful parents and teachers who always showed up shouldn't have to suffer for their fidelity. And, in the second place, activities of the Parent-Teachers Association were so important that something should be done to attract the not-so-faithful. So, under the leadership of the now past president Wallace Cunneen, the Oak School PTA came up with this program: —No more droning recitations of minutes and financial reports; pass them out in mimeograph form. —Maintain a strict time limit; begin promptly at 8 p.m. and end at 9:15. —Seat the parents at cafeteria tables equipped with coffee and cookies; no more rows of straight-backed chairs. —Encourage attendance by setting up a pool of teen-agers available for paid babysitting. —Most important of all, make the meetings genuinely interesting; no more lengthy discussions of whether the treasury can support a new television set for the third grade.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of an eight-year-old boy from a former marriage. My present husband is insanely jealous of my son and I think it is because the boy looks so much like his real father. My husband and I work different shifts. He has to leave the house at 3:30 p.m. and I don't get home until 6:00 p.m. My husband insists that the boy is old enough to stay alone and he won't let me get anyone in to stay with him. Abby, I am practically out of my mind worrying about what can happen to my little boy until I get home. He means the world to me. I am constantly pulled between my husband and my son. I love my husband, too, but my son means more to me than life itself. Please tell me what to do soon.
UNHAPPY
DEAR UNHAPPY: If your son really means more to you than "life itself," quit your job and live on what your husband earns. That way you'll be able to stay at home and be a full-time mother to the boy who "means the world" to you. Otherwise, continue to work and hire someone to look after your son during your absence. And if your husband doesn't like it, tell him to do what Ben Franklin did - to go fly a kite!
DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a miscellaneous bridal shower for the daughter of friend of mine. Since the shower gifts were not confined to "kitchen" or anything special, I thought a Bible would be a very welcome and unique gift. I bought the nicest Bible I could find and had it beautifully gift-wrapped and presented it to the bride at the shower. When she opened my gift, she remarked, "Oh, dear, if I had wanted a Bible I could have STOLEN one from any hotel room." Everyone laughed, but I had a lump in my throat the size of a lemon. Do you think my gift was inappropriate, and I would like your opinion of the bride.
IOWA READER
DEAR READER: I think your gift was wonderfully appropriate. If the bride was attempting to be "funny," her judgment was poor. And if she was serious, you obviously cast pearls before a swine.
DEAR ABBY: This may seem petty to you, but it's important to me. Henry and I have been married for 24 years. We have a lovely family, and I think our marriage could be considered highly successful. Henry was asked by his lodge to be the master of ceremonies for their annual husband-wife banquet. He considered it a privilege and worked hard collecting jokes and material to make the program entertaining. One of the jokes he used was, "Why should I pay the same amusement tax Richard Burton pays?" Abby, everyone at that banquet knows my husband and me, and I think it was cruel and insulting of him to compare me unfavorably with Elizabeth Taylor. How would you take it if your husband belittled you that way in public?
BELITTLED
DEAR BELITTLED: I assure you, nothing was further from your husband's mind than belittling you. Don't take the "comparison" between you and Miss Taylor personally. Henry used her only to symbolize what the typical male considers the ultimate in desirable feminine attributes. I'm sure your husband, like most men, would rather fight than switch.

CHURCHILL RETIRES

Elder Statesmen Leave Parliament

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II dissolved Parliament and the stroke of a pen Friday ended the parliamentary careers of two world-famous statesmen — Sir Winston Churchill and Harold Macmillan.

The queen signed a proclamation closing the longest peacetime Parliament of modern times during a meeting of the Privy Council, called for the occasion at Buckingham Palace.

With her action, the national election campaign for the Oct. 15 balloting got under way in earnest. Now all members of Parliament are hopeful candidates for election.

Former Prime Ministers Churchill, 90 in November, and Macmillan, 70, have announced they will not stand again. Churchill's longstanding career spans all of this century; Macmillan's the past 40 years.

After the Privy Council meeting, the queen flew back to Balmoral Castle, her Scottish vacation home, to resume her holiday. She is expected to return to London in a few days to prepare for a visit to Canada.

The Parliament which ended Friday is the first to run its full five-year term since the term was reduced from seven years before World War I.

In Britain, the prime minister calls a general election when he pleases. Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home let this Parliament run its full course to permit his party to recover from the disarray it was in when he took over the leadership from Macmillan 11 months ago.

The Conservative government was then recovering from a series of blows such as the Profumo scandal, which had sent its electoral chances to a low ebb.

Since becoming prime minister, Douglas-Home has done much to help his party to recoup. Public opinion polls now indicate the Conservatives and the Labor party are running neck and neck in the election race.

Art Festival Participation Range Noted

COLUMBIA (Special) — Louisiana's largest outdoor art show is expected to attract participants from throughout Louisiana and parts of Arkansas and Texas, according to the co-chairmen, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, library board member and Miss Vivian Holder, librarian.

With few rules, except that the work be original, and with no fees, the Caldwell Library Art Festival appeals to every age and represents a wide range of media in arts, crafts, writing and music. Photography and a flower show will be among the features.

The displays will be arranged by 10 a. m. and left in the show until 5 p. m. on Oct. 17, at the Community Center grounds here.

The program, which runs throughout the day, has been completed. According to the co-chairmen, it is so diversified that a theme is difficult to choose as it ranges from French and north Louisiana cookery to Louisiana history, from folk singing to jazz, from cartooning to the fine arts, and from interesting people to a band concert.

Among those appearing on the program will be Ernest Gueymard, managing editor of the Baton Rouge State Times, who will discuss French cooking; Mrs. Mildred Swift, KNOE-TV home economist, who will place the spotlight on north Louisiana cookery; Roy H. Odum, Baton Rouge advertising executive, who will have an exhibit showing the application of art to mass-produced items; and Mrs. Arthur Morgan of Shreveport, water colorist, who paints under the name Gladys Morgan.

Also scheduled is a family group which is a traditional part of the festival, Mrs. Drew N. Hays of Iron Rock near Ruston; her sister, Mrs. E. R. Whitman and daughter, Susan of San Antonio, Tex.; and Mrs. John W. Crump, her niece, of Synope Plantation, Columbia.

Serum Rushed For Man Bitten By Coral Snake

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — A 62-year-old man was bitten on the hand by a deadly coral snake Friday, setting off a dramatic race against death.

Kenneth Walker of Benton, was bitten on the right forearm as he worked at a cotton inspection station at about 5:30 p. m.

Walker was taken to a hospital in Sulphur.

At Pensacola, Fla., a snake bite serum was prepared at a hospital, hustled to the Pensacola Naval Air Station by highway patrol car and placed aboard a jet, which took off for Lake Charles.

Serum also was being relayed down from Leesville, by way of state police car.

The coral snake that struck Walker is one of the most poisonous vipers in the nation.

Police Disturb Pinball Payoffs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Some 50 policemen made simultaneous raids at a dozen places Friday in a crackdown on pinball machine payoffs.

Police and district attorney agents seized pinball machines and made 16 arrests.

Police Supt. Joseph Giarrusso said the raids climaxed an investigation which started earlier this month at more than 100 places.

He said officers spent $563 during the probe and collected $34 in payoffs.

OPTIMIST CLUB SPEAKER

Louisiana Business Climate Improving

Henri Wolbrette, executive vice-president of the Louisiana Chemical Association, said here Friday that $300 - million in "more industrial investments" has been spent in Louisiana since Gov. John J. McKeithen took office.

Wolbrette, in a talk to the Monroe Optimist Club, said McKeithen's administration had improved the "business and industrial climate" of the state.

He cited bills passed by the Legislature with McKeithen's support, but added, "They've got to pass these amendments to make the industrial improvement program work."

"Business people and civic leaders complained for years that we had a lousy business climate," Wolbrette said. "John McKeithen has completely reversed this situation with the help of the Legislature."

"Now it's up to the people to confirm these progressive steps," Wolbrette, a former New Orleans newspaperman, said the four amendments were as follows:

No. 2 — Provides a tax credit for manufacturers consuming natural gas in Louisiana.

"The purpose of this is to try to relieve the effect of Louisiana's high gas severance tax," Wolbrette said.

No. 3 — Provides that when tax exempt manufacturers come on the tax rolls they will do so at the same rate as the average assessment of all other property in this parish.

"Industry will not be penalized if this amendment is passed," Wolbrette said.

No. 5 — Prohibits the Public Service Commission from trying to take jurisdiction over direct sales of industrial gas.

No. 33 — Allow parishes to create industrial areas in which the industries would maintain their own services and then could not be included in any special districts to supply those services.

"If you have an industry providing sewage and garbage collection services, the industry couldn't be included in a new district created by a municipality or parish," Wolbrette explained.

Festival Will Close Today With Pageant

BASTROP (Special) — The North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair closes today and it has an appealing last-day agenda.

Highlighting events will be the competition by 18 girls for the queen title at 7:30 p. m. in the Bastrop High School auditorium.

The pageant is a preliminary to the Miss Louisiana Pageant held in Monroe. Contestants will be Linda Carolyn Reed, Carolyn Shirley, Teddy Lee Dixon, Rosemary Ball, Nancy Ellen Hudson, Shirley Anne Sullivan, Alice Butler, Debbie Swartz, Elaine Blalock, Bette Anne Howard, Sara Lewis, Carol Ann Tugwell, Judith Goss, Mary Esther Hall, Donna Bealy, Suzanne Harriston, Carol Jean Nunnally and Betty Mooney.

Judges for the pageant will be Mrs. Anna Bee, official chaperone for Miss Mississippi and director of the "High-Steppers" of Jackson, Miss., who is a member of the faculty of Hinds Jr. College at Raymond, Miss., and a professional dance instructor; Grits Gresham, writer and photographer, past president and chairman of the board of the Outdoor Writers Association of America; and Gaines C. Batson, a master of ceremonies of several beauty pageants who has a degree in music from the University of Wisconsin and has sung and played with big name bands, and is now supervisor of announcers for WDSU-TV, New Orleans.

The contestants will begin rehearsals at 9 a. m. in the auditorium today, and then be treated to lunch and supper events before the pageant gets underway. A dance will be held after the pageant at the Bastrop Country Club.

Orleans Bandit Suspect Nabbed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two Negroes robbed a restaurant of $5,477 Friday but one of them was quickly arrested and all but $575 of the money was recovered.

Police said Mrs. Celie Daste,

33-year-old operator of the Two Sisters Restaurant, was held up after she returned from a bank.

While police were searching the area, they were told that one robber had boarded a bus. Two policemen entered the bus and arrested August Thomas Casey, 19. A bagful of money was found beneath his seat and a gun was found on the seat.

HOME BOMBED

Negro Policeman Resigns In McComb; Won't Be Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ardis Garner, a Negro, said Friday he quit the McComb, Miss., police force rather than follow orders to spy on civil rights workers.

Garner's home in McComb was bombed Wednesday night as he was en route to tell his story to the Justice Department and civil rights commission officials.

Garner, who is 28, said at a news conference he was one of two Negroes hired as policemen to work in the Negro section of McComb about 10 weeks ago.

"We were put on to spy on civil rights workers," he said. "They asked us to watch the CORE people and report what they were doing."

Garner said 16 Negro homes in McComb have been bombed in recent months. He said he knew of no police connections with the bombings, did not know who was suspected of the bombings and thought that probably a large number of persons might be involved.

He said that after he quit the force a month ago he was followed by policemen and other men he did not know, but that he had received no threats. He left town by bus at night, he said, because "I was afraid they might stop me."

Garner said Negroes whose homes have been bombed have been active in civil rights work. The Mississippi Negroes, he said, need help. They want the right to vote and equal rights, he said.

Garner said he has told his story to Justice Department officials, whom he described as interested and sympathetic. He was told, he said, that the department is watching the situation at McComb.

His wife said it was only by luck and chance that no one had been killed in the bombings. She said some white persons in McComb are kind to Negroes and try to help them but if they are too open about it they are threatened. The home of one white man who helped Negroes was bombed, she said.

Monroe Police Book Suspect On Theft Charges

Monroe police Friday booked a 24-year-old Jackson, Miss., man on theft charges after he was arrested by Jackson police in connection with a car theft here Sept. 10th. Authorities said the man, Murray Lee Johnson, borrowed the 61-model car from Standard Motor Co. here for a test ride.

He apparently took the car to Jackson, police said, where it was traded, sold through an auction and apparently sold again. The vehicle had not been recovered Friday.

Johnson was picked up in Jackson by Ouachita Parish sheriff's officials and returned to Monroe.

West Monroe authorities booked Mrs. J. B. Varner, 60, of 210 N. 8th St., on charges of simple battery and disturbing the peace after she was arrested at 2:30 p. m. Friday at her residence.

Also booked by West Monroe police was Isaac Chapman, 37, 310 Pearl St., on a burglary charge. Chapman was arrested at West Monroe City Hall at 2:15 p. m.

West Monroe officers, aided by area law enforcement officials, were looking late Friday for a 60 model car believed involved in a vehicle hit and run accident on Plum Street in West Monroe. Ronnie Hatten, 18, 1310 N. 7th St., told officers the car he was driving collided with the unknown vehicle about 10 p. m. Friday. Officers said Hatten stopped his car after the minor collision and the driver of the other vehicle stopped, turned around and drove back past without stopping.

A license number turned in by the Hatten youth and other witnesses showed the car was registered to a Ruston resident.

Negro's Pen Pal To Ask Johnson For Assistance

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A Swedish housewife whose correspondence with a Negro death row prisoner in Louisiana has been disrupted by state authorities there said Friday she would appeal to President Johnson.

"This was a hard blow to me," said Mrs. Solveig Johanson in commenting on the Louisiana attorney general's decision Wednesday upholding the ban on her correspondence with Edgar Labat, a convict at the state prison in Angola, La.

Velonia Gibson, 306 Railroad Ave., fined $100 for aggravated battery; S. H. Butler, 104 Peach St., West Monroe, simple battery, fined $100; John A. Hayes, 28, 501 1/2 Herman St., simple battery, fined $200; Eddie Water, 29, 426 Teacher St., simple battery, $200, with H. C. Dowden, 43, 702 S. 3rd St., West Monroe, found not guilty to simple battery charges.

Fined for reckless driving were Arvis L. McKinnie, 57, Marion, $25; Luther Craighead, Rt. 1, Farmerville, $20, and Norman Albritton, 42, 508 Foster St., Monroe, $25.

Fined for speeding were Dorothy Cook, 28, 2300 Rainbow Dr., $20; George C. Manning, 432 Hickory St., $10; Manning E. Blazier Jr., 17, 3008 N. 12th St., West Monroe, $15, with James O. Holcomb, 25, Rt. 2, fined $10, suspended, and Britton J. Kelly, 37, 2514 Swiss St., fined $10.

Other counts handled included several minor traffic violations.

ASKS EXTENSIONS

Administration Will Act On Sugar Cane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration moved Friday to end a congressional stalemate on sugar control legislation by asking Congress for a temporary six months extension of expiring provisions of the present law.

Provisions regulating imports from foreign areas expired Dec. 31, but those regulating marketing by domestic producing areas and the Philippines extend through 1966.

In a letter to Speaker John W. McCormack of the House and Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., president pro tempore of the Senate, Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy urged passage of a bill which would continue the foreign quotas until next June 30.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, issued a statement earlier this week saying "until all interested parties are willing to compromise their differences and agree to support a resolution extending the sugar program, I do not intend to introduce a bill."

Congress has been unable to agree on legislation because of sharp differences between the domestic beet sugar industry and cane sugar refiners. The latter depend on foreign supplies of raw sugar, and hence want large imports.

The beet industry on the other hand has been insisting on a larger share of the U.S. market than the cane refiners want it to have.

"Extension of the foreign quotas for six months," Murphy said, "would permit the next congress to review the sugar program including the allocation of quotas to domestic and foreign areas."

The undersecretary said with world market prices having fallen rapidly to about two cents a pound below the domestic price objective of the control program and with "confusion in the domestic sugar trade as to what the ground rules will be for next year, food processors, wholesalers, retailers, and cane sugar refiners might lighten their inventories."

The resulting uncertainties, the farm official said, could adversely affect sugar prices at a time when producers in Florida and Louisiana would be marketing their sugar cane crop.

STOP IN AGAIN SOME TIME

JOHNSON, Kan. (AP) — Ora Carter of Larkn, Kan., was headed home from a school house dance when he passed through Johnson.

He stopped at a stable to get feed for his horse and since there was no attendant he fed the animal and forgot about paying for the feed.

Carter stopped in Johnson again recently and recalled that he still owed Lee Williams a feed bill.

He found Ira Williams, Lee's son, who told him to forget the 50-year-old debt.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD. . . Pamela Mason pulled her 10-year-old son, Morgan, out of the "Sandpiper" film. She claimed there were supposed to be a governess and a tutor in constant attendance at the Big Sur location, and that there was only a tutor — so she whisked the lad back to Los Angeles and as of now it looks as if Elizabeth Taylor will be getting a new little actor to play her son in the movie. . . Puzzling. With all the Mason money, one would think Morgan would have a year-round governess of his own, wherever he went. . . World's Fair exhibitors who've been hanging on by the stubs of their checkbook hoping for a September "influx" of patrons, are mightily disappointed so far. There are more and more forced closings and bankruptcies, and very few have enough hope or funds to hold out until the official closing Oct. 18. The one show that has been packing in whatever crowds there are is the film "To Be Alive" at the Johnson Wax Building. Most of the people who've "lived with" the Fair since it opened predict next season's exhibitors will be very tough for the corporation to deal with.

Important TV offers are coming in for Lainie Kazan, Barbara Streisand's understudy in "Funny Girl," since her one-song debut on the Phyllis Diller show, Lainie's rendition of "Don't Rain On My Parade" did the trick and she's going places; she never had a chance to impress an audience before because Barbra hasn't missed a performance.

Show biz speculators are thinking twice about importing Beatle imitations from England. One group recently bombed to $50,000 of their promoters' money. . . Sophia Loren must be getting house — happy — a mania that's fun to indulge when you make a million per picture. She's just bought a little luxury flat in Paris for $180,000, and plans to live there — with her Carlo Ponti, of course — when she finished doing "Judith" in Israel. While she's catching up on the fun in Paris, her fabulous multi-million dollar villa near Rome will be in dust-covers. . . Out Hollywood way, the natives are saying the Warren Beatty — Robert Rossen feud is more violent than ever — strictly verbal, so far — and outlasts the Kim Novak — Laurence Harvey feud, the Ava Gardner-Deborah Kerr feud and the Liz Ashley-Vivien Leigh feud.

Singer Gloria Lynne is recuperating after being hit in the leg by a bullet. She somehow got in the middle of a battle between cops and an alleged stickup man in Cleveland. . . Shakeup — time is long overdue at three more major movie companies. . . Europe's pretty new queen, Anne-Marie of Greece, has an amazing look-alike in one of Tin Pan Alley's most promising singers, who is also named Anne-Marie. They're close to the same age, have the same smiles, wear their hair the same way and photograph almost like twins.

One of the nation's top comedienne is a bit upset because the lady she thought was her best friend is turning out to be a far better friend to her estranged husband — and showing up all over town with him. Our heroine isn't terribly hurt, just somewhat embarrassed. . . Joe Levine continues to collect unique tributes. More than 500 movie industry representatives will fly to Paris to pay tribute to his colorful showmanship in connection with "The Carpetbaggers" and "Harlow" as well as 23 other pictures he'll be making with Paramount. Part of the celebration will be a 24th film — "A Day in the Life of Joe Levine" — which is seven minutes long.

A big controversy is raging in Germany around Helen Gurley Brown's new best seller, "Sex and the Office." Some of the gazettes over there have put the debate on the front pages. Former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who beat rather hasty retreat out of British politics after the Profumo Affair, threatens to emerge from retirement.

Hawaiian Luau Set Next Month At Area College

RUSTON (Special) — Plans for a Hawaiian Luau, featuring island entertainment, are being made by the Louisiana Tech food service as an attraction at the Tech stadium on Oct. 15 at 6:30 p.m. Approximately 4,000 persons are expected to attend.

Boarding students of the college will be admitted free to the event by showing their meal tickets at the gate. Tickets for non-boarding students will go on sale in the Student Center Oct. 1.

Hawaiian food will be served buffet style under improvised thatched-roof houses and tables will be placed on the ground in the Polynesian manner. The party, first of its kind at Tech, will include special cooks and other qualified persons brought in to assist in the preparation and service.

"We are encouraging all students who attend to dress in something to fit the occasion," said John Varnado, director of the food service. "Some may want to come barefoot."

Everyone attending will be given a Hawaiian lei. Girls will be provided with colored grass skirts and men with Polynesian straw hats. Several Polynesian roasted pigs will add to the setting. Six hundred and fifty Polynesian lanterns and 60 flares will light the area.

Joe Sheppard and his Hawaiian Wiggles will provide music. A small area will be set aside for dancing to Hawaiian style music. Each class at Tech has been invited to enter a boy and girl to do a song and dance skit. The guests of honor will serve as judges for the skits and the winner will receive a prize.

DE GAULLE ON TOUR

Peruvian President Embraces Premier

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle arrived Friday on a meet-the-people visit under the protective shield of an estimated 25,000 security agents.

The French leader's Caravelle jetliner touched down at the Callao - Lima Airport at 4:55 P.M. (EDT). French-speaking president Fernando Belaunde Terry, a former student in Paris, warmly welcomed his guest.

The two men shook hands and then embraced in the Latin manner. They exchanged brief phrases of welcome and then departed for the city, 12 miles distant, in a closed limousine.

They arranged to switch to an open convertible for a tour through the center of the city. The government ordered thousands of vendors off the streets through which De Gaulle passed.

Lima, a "Sister City" to Burdeos, France, since 1957, was draped with gay bunting and the French Tricolor.

De Gaulle closed out his overnight stay in Quito with an hour-long private talk with members of that country's military junta. A communique on the meeting called for stepped-up commercial and cultural ties, and French technical aid.

The French leader donated the equivalent of $900 to a fund in Quito for the family of a woman fatally trampled by a policeman's horse during welcoming ceremonies.

The exceptionally heavy security guard assigned to De Gaulle during his 65-hour stay in Lima was attributed to the fact he will travel with his hosts in an open car most of the time. It was understood he had expressed the wish to meet the people freely.

Baptists Asked To Elect Home Representatives

Each of the 52 Louisiana Baptist associations has been asked to elect a representative to the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home at the annual October meetings.

The associational representatives selected will be persons through whom facts about the work of the home will be given to Louisiana Baptists, according to W. B. East, superintendent of the home which is located in Monroe. The group when elected will meet in Monroe at least once annually, Wade said, and will then pass the information on to the churches.

The superintendent explained that some persons feel Louisiana Baptists do not know enough about the actual operation of the home.

"For example," Wade added, "some people have the idea that there is a church on the campus; others believe that babies are received to live in cottages on the campus. None of these things is true."

At a future date, churches will be requested to elect a chairman to the children's home from the local churches.

Crosses Lighted In Coastal Town

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—Four crosses were burned in the Pascagoula area Friday.

Police said two of the crosses—a traditional symbol of the Ku Klux Klan—were burned in Negro sections of Pascagoula and nearby Moss Point, another near a night club and the fourth in front of the home of businessman H. A. Lee.

Lee told officers he had no idea why the cross was placed in front of his home. He said he and his family were asleep and knew nothing of the incident until awakened by police.

A flaming cross in Carver Village, a Negro low-rental project, set fire to surrounding grass and firemen were called to extinguish the blaze.

Officers said all four were set off within a period of less than 25 minutes. They were identical in construction. Each was about six feet tall, with arms about four feet wide, and wrapped in burlap and rags apparently soaked in kerosene.

Police Chief Owen Davis said the burnings came as a surprise. He said they were the first reported in the Pascagoula area in about seven years.

Owen said the last reported was in 1957 when a cross was placed in front of the Pascagoula Chronicle, then a semi-weekly newspaper. The paper now publishes daily.

Enrollment Up At Northeast

Enrollment at Northeast Louisiana State College this fall numbers 4,172 or a 14.6 increase over last year's enrollment figure of 3,639.

In releasing the information, Dr. Boyd Woodard of Lake Charles, president of the State Board of Education, said that the total enrollment for Louisiana's ten state colleges and universities is 40,909, an increase of 5,693 students over last year.

Registration Up 18 Per Cent At Louisiana State

BATON ROUGE (Special)—Preliminary registration figures for the Louisiana State University system show LSU with more than 22,000 students, according to President John A. Hunter.

The figure is an increase of more than 18 per cent over last fall's final total of 18,704 and 1,000 more than was estimated for this fall.

On the Baton Rouge campus, 15,000 students have already been enrolled, with late registrations continuing. This preliminary figure compares with the final total of 13,158 recorded last fall.

Preliminary registration figures from other campuses in the system are LSU-Alexandria 616, Medical Center in New Orleans 615 (including 104 in nursing) and LSU in New Orleans 5735 (plus 82 registered in the School of Nursing).

Here is a breakdown on the Baton Rouge campus: Junior Division 5161, Agriculture 778, Arts & Sciences 1927, Chemistry and Physics 224, Business Administration 776, Education 1244, Engineering 1016, Music 72, University College 784, Nursing Education 8, Graduate School 2762, Law School 318 and Social Welfare 134.

The greatest increase on the Baton Rouge campus was recorded by the Junior Division, which was up more than 20 per cent over 1963.

Eight Persons File For Posts In Area Voting

JONESVILLE (Special)—Eight candidates have qualified for the special preferential election to be held in ward six of Catahoula Parish October 17 to select an additional member of the parish school board and police jury.

Those qualifying for the office of school board member by the deadline at 5 p.m. Tuesday were Charles L. Ford, George Griffing, Charles F. Wilson and Bobby "Tug" Ewing.

In the race for police juror, those qualifying were George Hudson, W. A. Grant, Luther "Hoss" Sanson and Douglas McClure.

The candidate with the highest number of votes is to be appointed to the post by Gov. John J. McKeithen.

The election was called for by the Catahoula Parish Police Jury who authorized a special census of the ward. The results of the census showed an increase in population of the ward which entitles the ward to an additional seat on both the police jury and school board.

HISTORY REPEATS?

MIAMI (AP)—A tip from Columnist Herb Rau of The Miami News: "You know what year this is, don't you?"

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Arthritis is the commonest cause of pain and swelling of the knees in adults. The condition is treated in much the same way as arthritis elsewhere except that the muscles of the upper leg must remain strong and bulky to shore up and protect the damaged knee. This is not easy to do with a stiff, painful joint.

Rheumatoid arthritis is the most likely culprit when symptoms begin in the late twenties or early thirties. This form of arthritis is serious and requires skillful care to prevent deformities. The usual remedies include corticosteroids, salicylates, gold, and physical therapy. A well trained physical therapist can prescribe exercises that stimulate the muscles but spare the joint. In some instances, the involved leg must be placed in a plaster cast until acute pain subsides.

Osteoarthritis is the type of arthritis that bothers older people and results from slow deterioration of the joints over many years. Severe pain usually is provoked by unusual stress such as climbing, kneeling, or moving heavy objects. It is less serious than rheumatoid; the joint is not so inflamed and gross deformities are less likely to occur. Relief usually is obtained by injecting one of the corticosteroids into the painful knee.

Again, the leg muscles must not be allowed to atrophy and weaken through disuse if the victim is to resume his former activities. Regular exercises are needed but several weeks may elapse before benefits are noticeable.

How much exercise can an arthritic take without hurting the joint? The best rule to follow is to exercise as much as possible, so long as it does not produce pain that lasts more than an hour.

ARTIFICIAL OPENING

Mrs. A. B. writes: Can a person who has had a colostomy go in swimming?

REPLY

Yes, but it may not be quite fair to other bathers because of the possibility of contaminating the water. A colostomy is a procedure in which a loop of bowel is lifted through the skin of the abdomen and anchored in place. An opening is then made in the bowel to allow the intestinal contents to escape. This new orifice takes the place of the rectum.

PIANO FINGERS

J. L. writes: I took up piano two years ago. Now, whenever I play, my fingers hurt and the ring and small fingers are swollen around the knuckles. Do you think piano playing could have caused arthritis? I'm 45 years old.

REPLY

Pounding the ivories may have injured the joints, but arthritis of the fingers is common at your age.

GALLSTONE DIET

P. W. writes: Is fat allowed on the diet for gall bladder disease?

REPLY

Not in the acute attack. Later, the diet is not so limited. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on dietary suggestions in gall bladder disease.

UNCONSCIOUSNESS

L. T. writes: What are the chief reasons for going into a coma?

REPLY

Too much alcohol or drugs, serum reactions, cirrhosis of liver, stroke, diabetes, and over-exposure to heat.

SKIN TESTS

F. H. writes: Do all allergies show up in allergy tests?

REPLY

No. Skin tests, for example, are not reliable for food and physical allergies.

Attempted Arson Hearing Is Held

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special)—Sam Freeman, 54, Negro, arrested here on Sept. 15 by the Adams County sheriff's department and charged with attempted arson, was given a preliminary hearing Friday morning in Justice of the Peace Court.

Freeman entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over by Judge William K. Luscombe for action of the November grand jury. He was later released on $5,000 bond.

Freeman was charged with an arson attempt after the operator of the Blue Room, a cafe owned by Jake Frishman swore out an affidavit against him.

Two Monroians Named To State Plumbing Board

Two Monroe plumbing leaders have been named by Gov. John J. McKeithen as members of the newly-constituted Louisiana State Plumbing Board.

They are Fred McVay, master plumber and president of the Louisiana Association of Plumbing, Heating & Cooling Contractors, and journeyman plumber R. M. Kirkham, business agent of Local 659, United Association of Plumbers & Steamfitters.

The pair are two of six members — three master plumbers, three journeyman plumbers — named by McKeithen to compose the board, along with newly named State Plumbing Inspector O. P. Berard of Shreveport.

In line with a new law, Act 498, signed in July, the board has been increased from including two master plumbers and two journeyman plumbers.

Thus revamped and renamed from the former Louisiana State Journeyman Examining Board, the group exercises authority in state law concerning the licensing of journeyman plumbers. It also enforces the provisions of the new state law.

Other master plumbers named by McKeithen are Lee J. Guidry of Opelousas and E. R. Bradford of Lake Charles. The two other journeyman plumbers are Paul Fox of New Orleans and Leroy Gypin of Alexandria.

Girl, 6, Learns Skipping School Has Drawbacks

A new twist in playing hooky, one that almost worked, was unveiled this week when a 6-year-old Monroe first grader apparently decided she had enough education.

The reluctant miss, Sharon Stevens, daughter of S-Sgt. and Mrs. K. Stevens of 1203 Filhiol St., failed to catch the morning school bus. Her teacher phoned that the young lady had not come to school, so a search was organized.

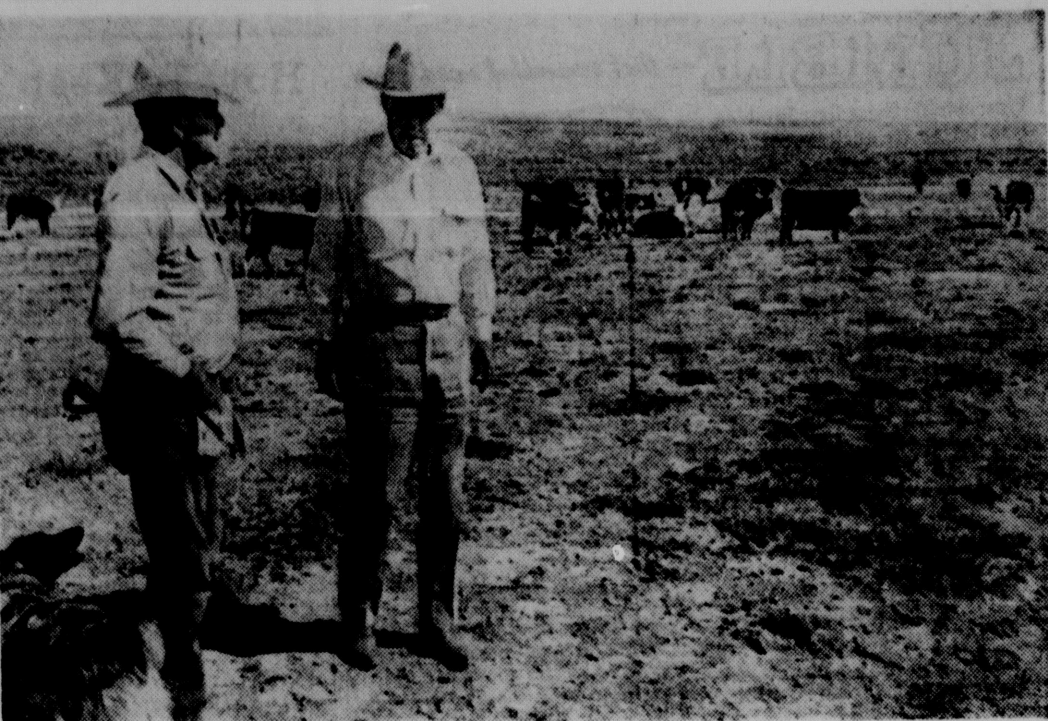

After a search of the house, A backyard doll house was peeked into, but to no avail. Parents, understandably, became worried, until someone remembered a small wooden box in the doll house.

The lid was raised and there lay Sharon, safe and sound. She had been there almost an hour.

Her mother warned, however, this trick has its drawbacks. Sharon was spanked soundly and carried to school.

Democrats Using Office For Politics, Miller Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Johnson administration is "utilizing the full resources of the federal government for political purposes in this campaign," the Republican candidate for vice president charged Friday.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York asserted, "This administration has controlled the news and has used public employees for political purposes, it also has instituted an ugly form of indirect censorship (over military leaders) for political purposes."

Miller commented in a statement issued as he arrived in San Francisco, Friday's final stop in his current Western campaign swing.

The accusation that Johnson had used federal personnel and facilities for political purposes also was part of a speech prepared for delivery by Miller to a meeting of the Commonwealth Club, a study group on major national and international issues.

Miller spoke earlier Friday in Merced and Stockton in the lush, prosperous agricultural territory of the California Central Valley.

He told his audiences that Democrats lied when they said a Republican administration would abolish farm supports.

If Sen. Barry Goldwater and himself are elected, Miller said, they would call only for the abolition of "Democratic farm programs that haven't worked."

Miller also expressed support for extension of the bracero program, under which thousands of Mexicans have entered California each year for seasonal farm work. Federal authorization for the program is scheduled to expire in December.

Miller also continued to press one of his major campaign arguments — that there has been corruption in "the highest places" of the federal government and it has been covered up by "the highest people." He has referred to the Bobby Baker case but has not made any specific allegations of wrongdoing against any federal official.

Miller will fly from San Francisco for two stops in New Mexico on Saturday and then on to Colorado Springs for two days before another week's campaigning in Western and Midwest states.

Scripps-Howard Backs Democrats In Record Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 17 Scripps-Howard newspapers Friday announced their support of President Johnson for election. It was the first time since 1936 that they had endorsed a Democrat for president.

An editorial published by the 17 papers said Johnson was "a natural choice" because of proven qualities of leadership, which it called the "paramount consideration" today.

It said Scripps-Howard had withheld an endorsement until Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater had had a fair chance to state his case.

"He has done that now, and although we admire his energy, courage and frankness and consider him a personally attractive individual, we do not find his arguments persuasive and do not think he has shown that he has the qualifications for the presidency," the editorial said.

The decision was made by a vote of the 17 Scripps-Howard newspaper editors and general editorial executives at a day-long meeting here this week.

Patsy Cobb, and Carol Christian who won second places in modeling competition. Kitty Greene and Susanne Sharp won third places for modeling, and Miss Greene also won a fourth place for construction of a school dress.

Other girls from Rayville who entered competition were Janice Johnson, Dianne Pope, and Sheila Sturgis.

ON TAX POLICY

Humphrey Dubs Opponent Quack

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey Friday portrayed Barry Goldwater as a political quack trying to sell a medicine-show tax remedy to a country that doesn't need it.

"He has labeled his nostrum as 'safe, sane and regular' like a patent medicine huckster," declared Humphrey, the Democratic vice presidential nominee and sometime pharmacist.

He repeated his estimate in his remarks prepared for a Flint Democratic rally that Goldwater's idea for a five percent income tax cut every year for five years would result in a $17 billion deficit in 1966.

Humphrey moved his campaign into Michigan just as United Auto Workers union members struck General Motors.

At a Grand Rapids news conference the Minnesotan described the UAW and General Motors as responsible organizations and expressed confidence they would reach a solution through collective bargaining.

There were few welcomers at the airport for Humphrey's arrival so the senator plunged in and shook hands with members of a red-coated high school band.

Presented an apple in this orchard country, Humphrey cracked "an apple a day keeps Goldwater away" and bit into the fruit.

A crowd police estimated at about 3,000 greeted the candidate in downtown Grand Rapids, a city of some 200,000 in predominantly Republican territory.

In addition to Grand Rapids and Flint, Humphrey scheduled barnstorming stops at Kalamazoo and Bay City.

In his Flint speech Humphrey pounded at Goldwater's views ranging from agriculture to taxes.

"Some years ago," he said, "there were people telling us we were on the verge of Fascism

At Border City

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — The John F. Kennedy Memorial which President Johnson dedicated here Friday night is composed of a four-foot granite base bearing a plaque.

On the plaque are inscribed remarks from Kennedy's inaugural address in 1961 in Washington:

"To those peoples in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of man's misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required — not because the Communists are doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it can never save the few who are rich."

Vehicles Crash

On Area Road;

Four Injured

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Four persons underwent emergency treatment here Friday after suffering injuries in a collision about 7:50 a.m. at the intersection of U.S. Highway 65 and La. Highway 598, four and one-half miles north of Lake Providence.

According to an investigating officer, a pickup truck driven by Gordon Stanley entered the highway in the path of a pickup truck operated by Mrs. J. D. Stanley, his sister-in-law.

Leo Grey, a passenger in the vehicle driven by Mrs. Stanley, was reportedly the most seriously injured. He received cuts about the head. Mrs. Stanley reportedly sustained chest injuries, while Henry Stanley, 12, and David Stanley, 16, passengers in the truck driven by their father, received minor cuts and bruises. Treated at East Carroll Parish Hospital, Grey and Mrs. Stanley were transferred to E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital in Monroe later in the day. The Stanley youths were released shortly after treatment.

Mr. Stanley was reported to have told investigating officers he blacked out before the accident. Stanley reportedly had a heart attack recently and was on his way to receive medical attention at the time of the accident.

The accident is under investigation and no charges had been filed late Friday.

Fire Destroys 35 Cotton Bales

The Rayville Fire Department reportedly used 3500 gallons of water in attempting to save the cotton.

Printing Office Prepares Warren Report In Utmost Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Government Printing Office is turning out 50,000 copies of the Warren Commission report to go on public sale Monday.

More will be printed as needed.

The report, of approximately 800 pages, is the commission's determination of events in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

No other book printed by the government has received such advance attention in recent times.

The printing office, in its barn-like red brick building near the Capitol, has kept its traditional secrecy on contents of the report. Photographers were not allowed even to take pictures of the printing operators at work.

The printing office has an impeccable reputation of preventing leaks on government documents.

It has a "whole fabric of security arrangements that have grown up through 50 or 60 years," a spokesman said. No extra security was placed on the Warren Commission report printing.

President Johnson received the first copy of the report Thursday from Chief Justice Earl Warren, head of the seven-man commission appointed by Johnson to investigate the slaying.

Its contents will be made public Sunday at 5:30 p.m. E.S.T.

As a federal agency, the Government Printing Office has the first jump on the book that appears destined to become a best seller. Copies will go on sale at the printing office building at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Mail orders won't be filled until after that time.

A spokesman said Friday there had been many telephone calls and quite a few mail orders, but no great avalanche of orders.

Looking To You For Help

NOW read why action is imperative TODAY

NOVEMBER 3rd IS IMPORTANT FOR YOU AND FOR THE WORLD....AND THIS IS AN APPEAL FOR YOUR HELP!

Barry Goldwater's campaign for the presidency needs you N O W!

1. It needs supporters - strong, enthusiastic, active, spirited supporters concerned about the downward trend of our country.
2. It needs money - to support the task of taking this vital message to every corner of our land. Mostly this money must come from those of us who are unorganized and seldom asked to support a cause - in this case a cause so great America's very future undoubtedly depends on our sacrificial generosity.
3. It needs encouragement - the encouragement which can only be generated by millions of Americans stepping forward to be counted; one great movement to save America from drowning in bureaucracy, violence, cynical government handouts, and weakness when confronted by foreign foes.

This is what we can do together:

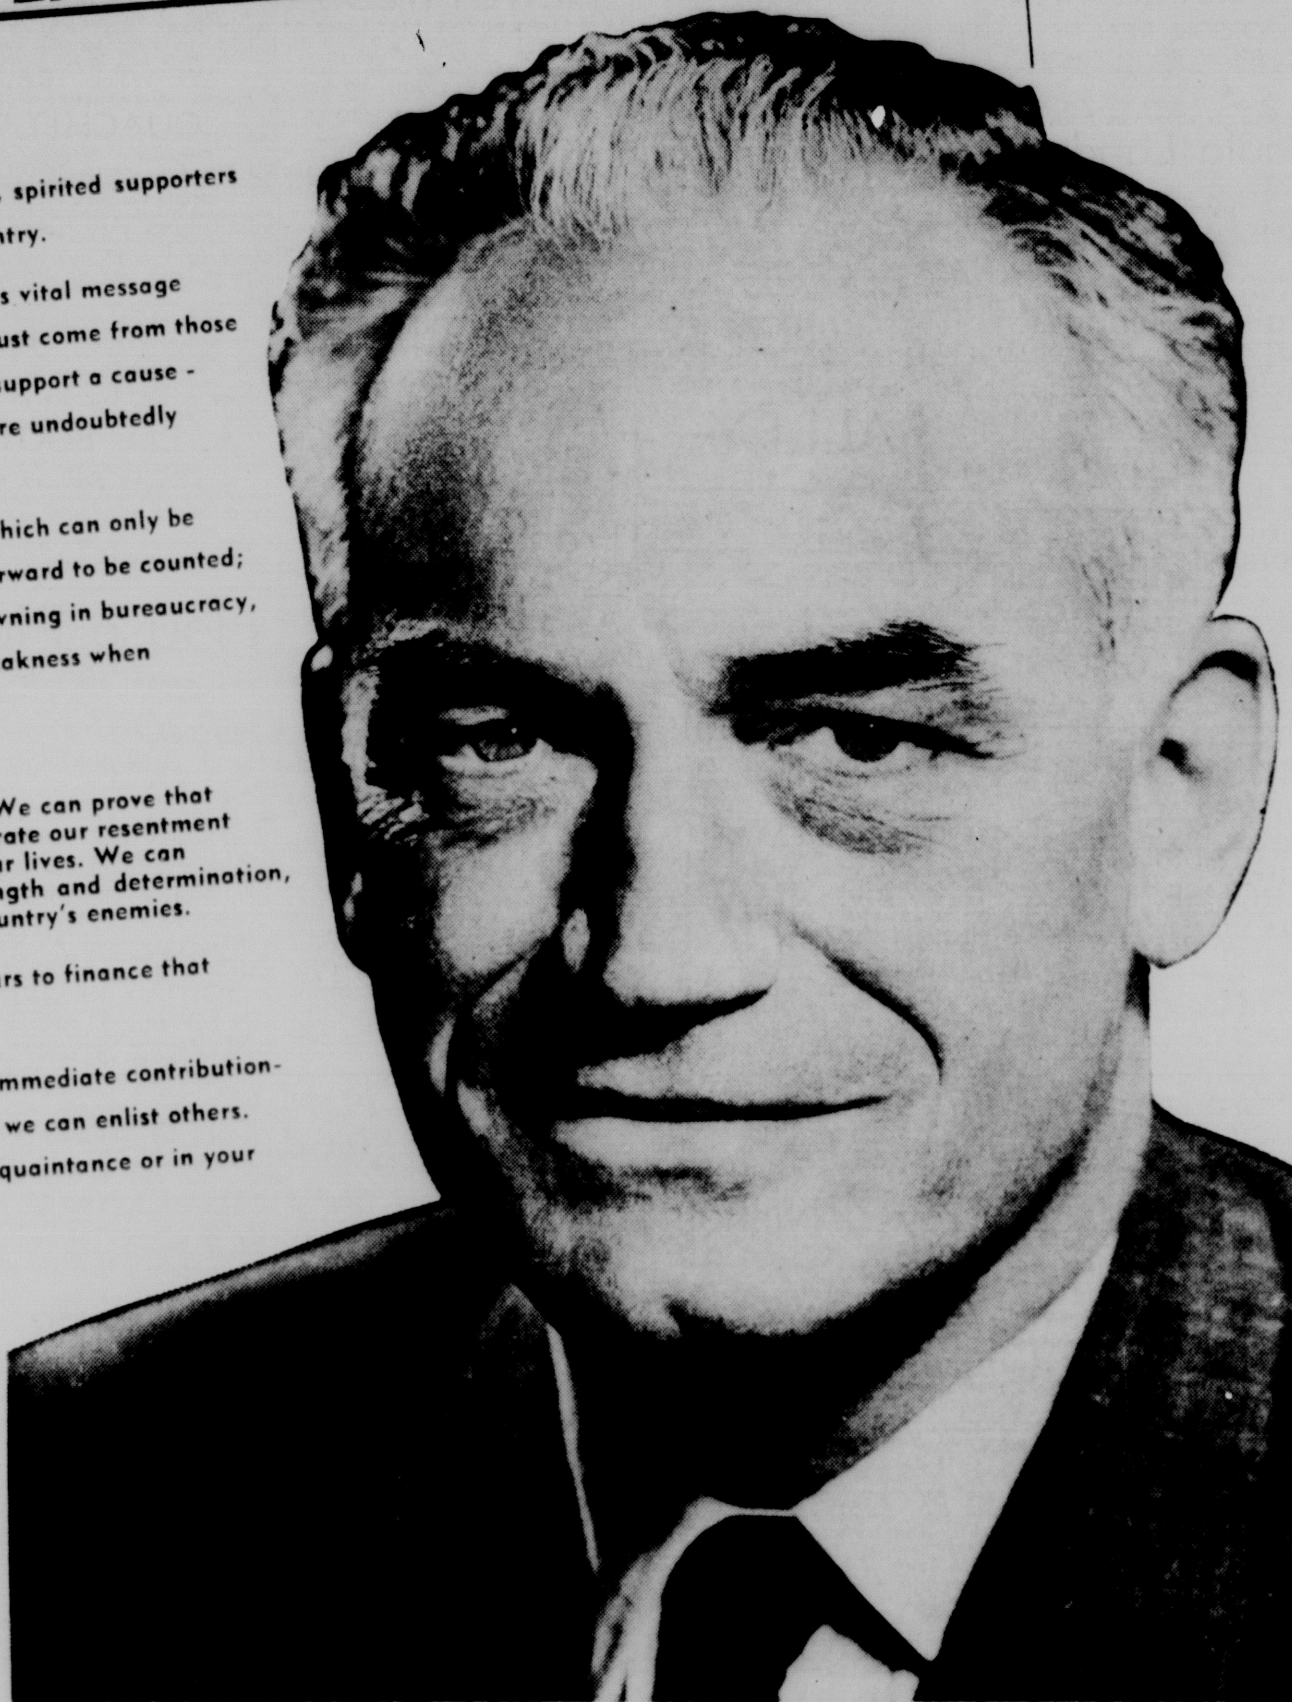

We can again have pride in what America does. We can prove that Americans still have backbone. We can demonstrate our resentment to federal government control of every part of our lives. We can dramatically show we want peace through strength and determination, not through surrender or timid deals with our country's enemies.

Volunteers in America's cause are needed. Dollars to finance that cause are essential.

Please say you can be counted. Please send an immediate contribution - money you have or will earn - so that, together, we can enlist others. And, please send us names of others of your acquaintance or in your family who will also help.

With your help, we can win. We shall win.

Sincerely,
WADE O. MARTIN
TADDY C. AYCOCK
W. L. "JACK" HOWARD

In your heart you know Goldwater is right and that he is the salvation of our way of life. You CAN and SHOULD help him save and preserve our freedom!

YOUR FREEDOM IS IN DANGER!!
YOUR HELP IS NEEDED TODAY!!

LET YOUR CONSCIENCE BE YOUR GUIDE AS TO WHETHER YOU CAN MAIL IN $1, $2, $5, $10 OR $100, OR MORE. BUT DO IT IMMEDIATELY. NOVEMBER 4TH WILL BE TOO LATE TO SAY "I WISH I HAD DONE MORE."
